Charles B. Markham

Dedication

The death of Mr. Charles B. Markham on December third, nineteen hundred and fifty-five, brought to a close a life spent in service to Duke University. He was with the university through the administration of four presidents, during which time he watched small Trinity College grow into one of the South's leading universities. Mr. Markham attended undergraduate school here, where he was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and Phi Beta Kappa. After receiving his Master of Arts degree in 1909, he served on the teaching staff and was assistant treasurer of Trinity College; when Robert L. Flowers became president in 1941, Mr. Markham was appointed treasurer of the university. He continued his interest in student activities and held membership on Publications' Board, as well as being known as an outstanding participant in civic affairs in his native city of Durham.

To the memory of Mr. Markham, life-long friend of Duke University and supporter of its Christian ideals the student body of nineteen hundred and fifty-six dedicates its CHANTICLEER.

PRESIDENT EDENS

Dr. A. Hollis Edens was elected President of Duke University in November, 1948, and was inaugurated in October, 1949. He received his B.Ph. and M.A. from Emory University and LL.D. from Davidson College, University of North Carolina, Emory, Wake Forest, and Roanoke College. In addition to his duties as president of the National Commission on Accrediting, representing the Association of American Universities, he is vice-chairman of the U.S. Advisory Commission on Education Exchange. As President of the University he has worked steadily to raise the standards of education and to improve campus facilities, thereby receiving the admiration and respect of students, faculty, and administration.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees is given the power to make rules and regulations necessary for the good government of the University and to manage the University property and funds. Between Board meetings, an Executive Committee of seven members, elected by the Trustees, holds the same power as the Board, excluding nominating Trustees and electing members, and is responsible for submitting a report each year at the annual meeting of the Trustees. Norman A. Cocke serves as both chairman of the Board and as an ex-officio member of the Executive Committee.

DEANS

The administrative branch of Duke University is composed of a group of capable men striving to solve the complex problems of a large university and to create better understanding between students and administration.

Dr. Charles E. Jordan serves as Vice-President of the University in the Division of Public Relations and as Secretary of the University; he is also president of the North Carolina School Board Association. Alfred Smith Brower, Business Manager and Comptroller, supervises the University financial and business operations. The late Charles B. Markham, Treasurer of the University, was responsible for the care of all securities and financial records.

Charles E. Jordan is Secretary of the University and Vice-President in the Division of Public Relations.

Alfred S. Brower serves both as Business Manager and as newly appointed Treasurer of the University.

Charles B. Markham had served as treasurer since 1941; his death terminated a life of faithful service to the University.

OF MEN

He was also Scientific Adviser to the U.S. Delegation at the General UNESCO Conference in 1949. Herbert J. Herring, Dean of Trinity College and Vice-President of the University in the Division of Student Life, holds degrees from both Duke and Columbia Universities and an honorary LL.D. from Juanita College. William H. Wannamaker, Vice-Chancellor of the University, received his A.B. from Wofford College, his M.A. from Trinity College and studied at Harvard Graduate School and abroad.

Paul M. Gross serves as Dean of the University and Vice-President in the Division of Education.

William Wannamaker has held the position of Vice-Chancellor of Duke University for a number of years.

Herbert J. Herring is the Dean of Trinity College and is also Vice-President of the University in the Division of Student Life

L. J. McNurlen is the Assistant Dean of Freshmen and Sophomores.

William Archie serves as the Associate Dean of Trinity College.

DEANS

Alan K. Manchester, Dean of Undergraduate Studies, serves as the Co-ordinator of the academic programs of the three colleges composing the University.

William Councill Archie serves as Associate Dean of Trinity College. He holds degrees from Davidson College, Wake Forest College, and Princeton University. Everett Broadus Weatherspoon received his B.A. from Duke in 1930 and has served as Director of Admissions since 1949. He also serves as representative of the University on the College Entrance Examination Board. Lewis J. McNurlen, Assistant Dean of Freshmen and Sophomores, holds his B.A. and M.A. from Drake University and his Ph.D. from Duke. Alan K. Manchester, Dean of Undergraduate Studies and Professor of History, received his A.B. from Vanderbilt University and his Ph.D. from Duke. He has also served as Cultural Affairs Officer at the U.S. Embassy in Rio de Janeiro.

Lanier W. Pratt serves as the Assistant Dean of Trinity College.

OF MEN

Lanier Ward Pratt, Assistant Dean of Trinity College, received his A.B. degree from Davidson College, and his M.A. degree from Duke. Before coming to Duke he taught in both Georgia and Mississippi schools and has since served in the Navy twice. R. L. Tuthill, who is the first Registrar to serve the University, co-ordinates the records and admissions of the University. Miss Margaret Coleman, serving as Recorder of the University, is in immediate supervision of the Central Records Office. Robert B. Cox serves as Dean of Men, having received his A.B. degree from the University of Tennessee and his M.A. degree from Peabody College. He also did additional graduate work at both the University of North Carolina and Duke University.

Robert B. Cox, Dean of Men, acts in the capacity of adviser to undergraduate men on West Campus, helping them with various problems which arise.

DEANS OF WOMEN

Dr. Roberta Florence Brinkley has served Duke since 1947 as Dean of the Woman's College and professor of English, holding her A.B. degree from Agnes Scott College, her M.A. from George Peabody College for teachers, and her Ph.D. from Yale University. ENGINEERING

The College of Engineering gives courses in Electrical, Mechanical and Civil Engineering, offering technical subjects that will lead to an engineering degree. Walter J. Seeley is Dean and Director of Research and Development and has also served as consultant with the Duke Power Company of Charlotte since 1926. J. Wesley Williams, Acting Chairman of the Civil Engineering Department, acts as a consultant on North Carolina highway needs and has been a consultant to the U. S. Air Force since 1951. Charles R. Vail, Chairman of the Electrical Engineering Department, has worked as a consultant with the U. S. Naval Research Laboratory and is the author of numerous publications. Van L. Kenyon, Jr., in addition to his duties as acting chairman of the Mechanical Engineering Department, is a consultant to Western Electric Corporation.

Charles Dukes

ALUMNI DEPARTMENT

The Department of Alumni Affairs is a two-way avenue from the alumni to the University and from the University to the alumni. It is the agency through which the alumni can make effective their interest in Duke and fellow alumni. It is a service organization, supporting such activities as homecomings, reunions, class organizations, and local alumni associations, and also co-ordinates the plans and activities of volunteer workers for the loyalty fund, a vital part of the financial program of Duke. It publishes a magazine, the Alumni Register, ten times annually, in addition to issuing at least four times annually a newsletter, sent to all former students not receiving the Alumni Register. Finally, the members of its staff serve on many of the student organization boards and co-operate with the students in supporting many of their organizations and activities.

GRADUAT

Since the beginning of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences in 1926, it has awarded a total of 2,779 M.A.'s and 838 Ph.D.'s. The enrollment, however, remains limited to 416 students in order that particular emphasis can be placed on individual achievement. Marcus E. Hobbs serves as Dean of the Graduate School, having come to Duke in 1935 as an instructor in the chemistry department of which he later served as chairman until his appointment to the Graduate School in 1954. The Divinity School was the first of the graduate professional schools to be organized on the Duke University campus. Its primary purpose is to train individuals who wish to enter the Christian ministry. The Reverend Doctor James Cannon, Dean of the Divinity School since 1951, has received degrees from Trinity College, Princeton University, Princeton Seminary, and Birmingham Southern College. The School of Forestry began in 1938 under the leadership of Clarence F. Korstian. The Duke Forest, approximately 7,600 acres which was placed under management for forestry purposes in 1931, offers a natural laboratory for the development of educational work in forestry. Dr. Korstian, Dean of the School, holds degrees from the University of Nebraska, Southeastern Christian College, and Yale University.

The School of Law, headed by Joseph A. McClain, Jr., has a full-time law faculty of twelve instructors, supplemented by the Legal Aid Clinic staff of lawyers and part-time practicing lawyers who teach certain phases of practical instruction to a limited number of students. Joseph McClain has been Dean of the School of Law since 1950, having been General Counsel for the Wabash R. R. Company during the five preceding years. The School of Medicine, begun in 1930, has as its main objectives the teaching and cultivation of medicine on a scientific basis, the search for new and improved methods of teaching, and the bringing together of medical teaching with medical research at all levels of instruction. Dr. W. C. Davison, Dean of the Medical School, holds degrees from Princeton University, Oxford University, Johns Hopkins University Medical School, Wake Forest College and the University of North Carolina. The School of Nursing, headed by Ann Madeline Jacobansky, was established in 1931 in association with the School of Medicine and Duke Hospital. Dean Jacobansky represents the School on the Committee on Health Affairs, which promotes the common interest of the Medical School, School of Nursing and the Hospital, and oversees the nursing courses which provide an educational program enabling the students to develop the skills needed for good nursing.

In each of the dormitories of the Woman's College lives a House Counselor who acts together with the House Council in an advisory capacity in regard to house responsibilities. They are persons with whom the students may confidently discuss their personal opinions and problems. The counselors also take part in student activities and serve as advisers to student organizations. Professionally trained in counseling and guidance, they are primarily concerned with the happiness and maturity of each individual girl.

CLAS

OFFICERS

The outstanding project directed by sophomore officers was Dink-Bow day, which served to better acquaint freshmen from East and West. Freshmen elected officers in October and began their class organization by writing their constitutions, taking part in freshmen activities, and planning a spring dance.

NURSES' ACTIVITIES

The Honor Council, Judicial Board, and Executive Council constitute the nucleus of the activities of the School of Nursing. Chief among the S.G.A. projects this year was raising money for the Florence K. Wilson scholarship fund which had been started the previous spring. In addition to this, the council began publishing a newspaper for expression of student views on dorm issues and set up a long-needed S.G.A. office.

A student nurse can swap her prim white starched uniform for an evening dress in just about no time flat. However rigid and hard is her schedule of work and study, there is always time to squeeze into her tight schedule a little social life. There is never a shortage of student nurses at Duke's big weekends and fraternity parties—that is, for those who are not so unlucky as to be on night duty at the hospital.

Hardly a patient would have recognized his "angel of mercy" had he seen her at the annual Hanes House Christmas Dance as she entertained amid a sparkling background of tinsel and Christmas lights. As the perfect "top of the tree" touch to the colorful scene, Dr. Edward Stuart crowned Lucy Wilson queen of the 1955 celebration. Besides Lucy, the women in white boasted campus celebrities including Lois Plummer, 1955 Homecoming Queen, and Bobbie Bell, Sweetheart of Sigma Chi.

Lois Plummer and Lucy Wilson were chosen this year as Homecoming Queen and Queen of the Hanes House Christmas Dance respectively.

NURSES' BEAUTIES

While the patient receives oxygen, student nurses Shirley Davis and Jean Munro check his chart and pulse.

HOSPITAL LIFE

The freshman nursing student receives her initial blow when, in registering for classes, she finds that Duke undergraduates are classified as "men, women, and nurses." Despite this distinction, her first year is that of a liberal arts student. With all classes on East Campus, she does her part in supporting the Durham Transit Company. The second year brings her closer to the hospital, with all classes on West and the privilege of donning her "blues" and "whites" for a few hours of ward work. Then, as the thrill of being in the hospital wears off, the nurse-to-be finds that the scholastic approach to knowledge is easier on the feet than the experimental method of learning. It is easy enough to discuss problems in pediatrics, but hypothetical patients are not always typical—and oranges take to injections better than people do; but then come a diploma, and only the pleasant memories remain as the nurse proudly flourishes her signature with "R.N."

At the pediatric clinic of Duke Hospital, we find student nurse Jean Renick as she efficiently weighs in and measures her young patient.

In Howland, the pediatric ward of Duke Hospital, Nurse Jean Renick comforts and cheers up a young patient after his eye operation.

M.S.G.A.

The goal of the 1955-56 administration of the Men's Student Government Association was to activate three facets of student organization and representation. First, they attempted to expediate legislative action; second, to consolidate and stimulate existing agencies of the MSGA; and finally, to strengthen co-operation with the student government by means of an intensified public relations program. The applications of MSGA efforts, as well as legislation, were carried out under the auspices of the presiding officers of the Association.

Men's Student Government Association, composed of representatives from each fraternity, the independents, and the freshman houses, meet regularly each week to iron out the many problems which arise on campus.

The ten members of the 1955-1956 Men's Student Government Association cabinet are the following, as they are seated in order from left to right: B. Longsworth, J. Eggleston, B. Beacham, N. Williams, L. Beck, H. Bennett (President), E. Fisher, E. Preston, D. Duffey, and J. Matthews.

To fulfill their two objectives, MSGA consolidated the weaker campus organizations into its cabinet. To take care of this growth, office space was expanded, and improved equipment installed. However, the primary concern of council action was to extend student benefits; MSGA created a student examination file, a tutoring bureau, and a court of Common Pleas; through SGA negotiation, sophomores were allowed to retain automobile privileges, and Easter vacation was extended. Another act of legislation was the rule that in the case of damage to a student's room, the student body is responsible if no individual be found guilty. At the end of the year, three thousand dollars of surplus funds were invested to provide income for future use to students; this will insure continued advancement.

Herd Bennett, who is a member of ODK and Old Trinity Club, was the President of the Men's Student Government Association.

Elsa Reece, President of Woman's Student Government, is a member of White Duchy and Phi Kappa Delta.

Throughout the years of its organization at Duke, the Woman's Student Government Association has presented East Campus with a program of progressive legislation. Thanksgiving holidays and one o'clock permission on Saturday nights are examples of past SGA legislation. Continuing this year in the tradition of realizing student needs, this organization, under the leadership of Elsa Reese, raised funds and made provisions for a new Foreign Student Scholarship Fund next year, reformed the Bermuda shorts rule, reorganized the student government by revising the Constitution and by-laws, and re-affiliated with the National Student Association. After much deliberation, the assembly voted to rejoin NSA in order to obtain a nation-wide audience for views and opinions expressed by Duke women students.

W.S.G.A.

The Association is made up of the entire student body, but works through a council and auxiliaries. The officers elected by the Woman's College students compose the council, which directs activities and considers legislation of the membership. The auxiliaries play a vital part in the operation of administrative activities. Established in 1955, the volunteers making up the auxiliary help in the office, keep up the exam file, and publicize activities.

Members of the Woman's Student Government Association Council are, 1st row: A. Alexander, L. Hanford, G. Stratton, J. Perry, C. Marcom, E. Reese, L. Williams, N. Saunders, B. Quillian, B. Webb, B. Hatcher. 2nd row: B. Boyd, A. Jervey, T. McBride, M. Hadley, D. Glenn, S. Pfohl, J. Dinwoodey, E. Pritchett, T. Barclift, P. Stansbury, D. Wasden, S. Davis.

MEN

Verne Caviness is the Men's Judicial Board Chairman and belongs to Phi Beta Kappa and Red Friars.

The Men's Judicial Board, composed of nine students from the junior and senior classes, was headed by Verne Caviness. Serving two very necessary functions, the main purpose was to uphold the laws of the university and to rule on any infractions which were called to their attention. In addition, the Judicial Board ruled upon the constitutionality of university regulations whenever the Men's Student Government Association requested that it do so; in this way a system of checks and balances was maintained between the legislature and the judiciary.

When a regulation was broken, the case was brought to the Board by the Dean's office, by the IDC Court, or by the campus police. The defendant was then summoned to a closed meeting after any necessary investigation had been made. There the defendant and any witnesses that accompanied him stated the case; the rule which had been broken was explained to the defendant, and the offense was defined. After considering the case, the men rendered their decision, then referred the sentence to the deans for confirmation before it was announced to the defendant.

By considering cases encompassing everything from rule violations to honor code offenses, the Woman's College Judicial Board works to insure harmony among students, their rules, and the administration. The board is composed of representatives elected from each dorm and from the Town Girl's Club. Besides serving on the central organization, it is the job of the "Judy Reps" to clarify the regulations and proceedings of Judicial Board in their houses and to preside over House Council cases. This system of representation gives each member of the Woman's College a medium through which to voice her ideas and opinions.

Top officers of Judicial Board are chosen by the student body during spring elections; this year the board was headed by Sarah Pfohl and Mary French. This branch of WSGA made itself felt by setting up a traffic appeals court; others realized their presence in more subtle ways. The work of the court is held confidential; individuals are given hearings, and each case is determined only after considering the defendant individually.

The Chairman of Judicial Board, Sarah Pfohl, also a member of White Duchy and Phi Beta Kappa.

WOMEN BOARDS

Bob Eadie, chairman of Men's Freshman Advisory Council, is in ASME and on Publications Board.

The task of the Men's FAC is to aid freshmen in their adjustment to college life during their first year at Duke. The council assumed the responsibility of checking with the freshmen regularly and helping them with the many problems that arose during their first months at school. Advisers saw that their freshmen learned the rules of Duke social and academic life, became acquainted with the campus, found their way to classes, and occasionally dropped in on East Campus. Although a difficult and sometimes futile job, FAC's found their reward when the freshmen became assimilated into Duke life.

A constant source of advice and friendship and an occasional source of blind dates, the Freshman Advisory Council assists newcomers in adjusting to college life. "But Sylvia, I'm failing a course. . . . Why do I have to sign out for Hoboken? . . . What is this assembly, anyway?" These and many more trials and tribulations are smoothed over by the ever sympathetic "big sister" FAC's.

Members of the council are chosen for outstanding qualities of character and leadership. Their job is to turn a confused freshman into a less confused Duchess—a challenge only for the best!

Sylvia Davis, Chairman of the Women's Freshman Advisory Council, is a member of ΦBK and ΦKΔ.

The Board of Governors: B. Griffith, M. Council, E. Preston, G. Stratton, J. Harbison, R. Kohler, S. Jett, B. Teller, D. Felson, M. Jackson.

STUDENT UNION

Last February, the Duke Student Union celebrated its first birthday. Designed to accommodate men and women students, this youngest of campus organizations provided students at last with an on-campus center for enjoying recreational and cultural activities. Among other things, the building supplied rooms in which organizations may hold meetings and publications' staffs can work in adequate office space.

The Student Union administration is made up of the Board of Advisers, a Board of Governors, and a board of chairmen of the six committees. Mr. William Griffith is Director, and Jim Harbison served as chairman during the 1955-56 program. This administration presented a diversified repetoire to the campus, hoping to satisfy "some of the people all of the time." Nationally known personalities on the Student Union agenda included Charles Peterson, the billiard expert; Stephen Potter, English humorist; and Carmine DeSapio, nationally-known political leader. Student Union committees also sponsored "Candle Light Cabarets," bridge tournaments between fraternities, sororities, and independents, and a photography contest. These activities were in addition to their handling of the T.V. room and a Music Lounge, for which new records were purchased.

The Committee heads of the various Student Union activities are as follows: Blake Burns (Major Attractions), Sally Hazen (Educational Affairs), Wade Penny (Major Attractions,) Ellie Kent (Social), Rock Stevens (Social), Dot McCall (Recreational).

Student Union Chairman Jim Harbison is also in Red Friars and ODK.

As a part of the Feature Attractions program sponsored by the Student Union, Humorist Bennett Cerf spoke in the Woman's College Auditorium on his personal experiences.

CAMPUS CHEST

The Chairman of Campus Chest drive on East campus was Lila Haney, a Senior who comes from Oxford, North Craolina.

CAMPUS CHEST

The Campus Chest Fund was organized in order to unite international, national, and local charity collections into one school-wide drive. This drive, held in the last part of March, spared students the inconvenience of frequent fund-raising campaigns. Women were solicited by pledge cards; then Lila Haney and one representative from each dorm collected the money at a specified time. On West campus Marv Botnick and Belton Joyner headed the drive; this year they originated the idea of men placing ten cents in a box when they picked up dates at East Campus dormitories.

Contributions were made to the organization for World University Service, the national charity drives of the American Cancer Society and the National Fund for Infantile Paralysis, and to the local drives for the Southside Children's Nursery and the John A. Reed Boy's Club. Funds were also set aside for a scholarship to be given to a Duke student.

Social Standards Committee members 1st row: Foard, McKee, Hurst, Stokes, Hatcher, Girand, Kirkpatrick, Ratcliff. 2nd row: Romberg, Reed, Brooks, Carrick, Morck, Hart, Welt, Ellis, Daniels, Faulkner. 3rd row: Ziegler, Gould, Kearns, Humphrey, Lassiter, Hodges, Gott, McLawhorn.

SOCIAL STANDARDS

Keeping coeds on their toes about manners and dress on Duke campus is the job of the Social Standards Committee, headed by Barbara Hatcher. At work before school started, the committee sent out to the freshman coeds the Social Standards booklet, Design for a Duchess, which contained regulations and information concerning social standards and practices at Duke. At the beginning of the year the committee worked with the Freshman Advisory Council, providing advice and guidance for the freshmen. Social Standards also published and sold a pictorial calendar of the University.

Coed Balls were among the more enjoyable projects of the committee; Winter Carnival and Mardi Gras Masquerade gave the coeds an opportunity to entertain the men from West. To add to the excitement, the CHANTICLEER Beauty Queen was presented in the fall and the May Queen at the Spring dance.

Student Co-ordinate Board, a committee of the Woman's Student Government, was headed by Ann Alexander, who is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

In Co-ordinate Board, faculty members and students find a medium for discussing and solving problems. This council was organized to mediate conflicts in campus life, to listen to student opinion, and to effect devices for better faculty-student relationships. Chairman Ann Alexander and Secretary Elizabeth Springston headed the Board, which consists of members-at-large and representatives from the classes, the dorms, and the Town Girls. WSGA council, on the recommendation of the Co-ordinate Board, select for Board members girls with a sense of responsibility and a knack for diplomacy to handle the issues arising in the Board.

Co-ordinate Board is always at work assisting in campus-wide activities. This year projects of the Board included speeding up the registration procedure, handling the job opportunities list, the campus messenger service, and sponsoring dinners given in the East Campus Union. Another of the Board's extra services was a home-making course for East Campus seniors.

STUDENT CO-ORDINATE BOARD

CANADIAN PLAYERS

STUDENT FORUM

Centering most of its attention around a Renaissance Arts Month, the Student Forum brought to the campus a varied program intended to awaken and stimulate the cultural interests of the student body. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the Arts Month program was the IBM Company's exhibition of Leonardo DaVinci's inventions. Both Duke students and area residents viewed the large-scale models in awe of DaVinci's creative genius. The Student Forum Committee also included in its Renaissance Month two speakers, Francis Henry Taylor, ex-officio curator of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and Noah Greenberg, a commentator of Renaissance Music. The Duke Players' production of The Merchant of Venice, sponsored by the committee, completed the Month's program. In addition to the Renaissance Arts Month, Student Forum presented the well-known poet W. H. Auden and columnist Doris Fleeson.

Journalist Doris Fleeson spoke in E. Duke.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

As a national service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega works to attain its three-fold purpose of Leadership, Friendship and Service on the college campus. This year the fraternity helped orient foreign graduate students to Duke life, sponsored a "Citizens Now" weekend for Scouts, and helped out in various community projects. Having been active for only two years, Alpha Phi Omega has already proved itself a helpful addition to the organizational life of the college.

The members of Traditions Board are: Fisher, Wheeler, McMillan, Albrecht, Bentz, Eadie, Mewborne, Ward.

TRADITIONS BOARD

From the moment that the unsuspecting Freshman appears on campus until the termination of Freshman Traditions period, he is under the supervision and surveillance of the Traditions Board.

The purpose of the Board is to enforce compliance with freshman traditions, some of which are: wearing a dink; not sitting on the Chapel steps; being able to recite Duke cheers, the Alma Mater or a reasonable facsimile; and learning the history of Duke which is printed on the inside of the University Stores' matchbook cover.

Because of the widely-held sentiment that a better system of handling motor offenses was needed, the Traffic Court was incorporated into the Court of Claims in the fall of 1955.

At that time the court's functions were extended to include all financial claims; when a student believed that he had been unjustly assessed or excessively fined for violation of traffic regulations, he could now direct his appeal to this court. By its many cases, the Court of Claims has proved itself to be a valuable subsidiary to the Judicial Board.

COURT OF CLAIMS

Y.M.C.A.

Philip Leinbach, President of the Y.M.C.A., is also a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and O.T.C.

The Young Men's Christian Association is known as one of the most active organizations on West Campus; each year the Y.M.C.A. plans and executes numerous projects and programs to accomplish its primary objective: providing Christian fellowship and service for Duke men.

This year, Phil Leinbach acted as top co-ordinator of the many branches of the "Y," whose activities totaled a typically busy year. Orientation Week preceded the year's activities with "Y" men proctoring exams, giving guided tours of both campuses, and helping freshmen adjust to campus life. Dad's Day in November was the next big Y.M.C.A. project; the men feted over two-hundred Dads with a program that included a banquet, a play, and a football game. Throughout the year the "Y" provided workers for Edgemont and for Wright's Refuge, and it co-ordinated the fraternity-sorority parties given for underprivileged children. To provide campus entertainment, the "Y" sponsored Twilight Time, a chess and checkers tournament, and a concert by the Duke Ambassadors. Sometimes overshadowed by these projects were a host of smaller, though still important activities — vesper services, "sings," visits to hospitalized students, and the Transfer Advisory Council.

Coach Jody Newland gives last minute instructions to lineman Judy Varney before Y.W.C.A. Punch-Bunch gets underway during Freshman Week to inform frosh of "Y" activities.

Second only to W.S.G.A. in numbers, the Young Women's Christian Association occupies a vital role in organizational life on East Campus. Under the leadership of Jody Newland, the "Y" co-ordinates the Duke Coed's religious life with her other activities.

"Y" members were busy during Freshman Week as the girls met planes, trains, and buses bearing new arrivals to East. Punch-bunches and open houses were sponsored to acquaint Freshmen with "Y" work, and an exchange picnic with the Y.M.C.A. introduced them to their counterparts on West. Soon these same Freshmen girls, aided by the "Big Y" in forming their own Freshman "Y," elected Claudia Liebrecht as president.

The year 1955 marked the One-Hundredth Anniversary of the National Y.W.C.A.; the Centennial was celebrated at Duke with an assembly honoring Dean Alice M. Baldwin. An outstanding project of the year was the monthly study meeting featuring such topics as "The Nature of God" and "The Christian Attitude Toward War." The Worship Committee published a booklet of meditations for the Lenten Season. Many "Y" members were actively engaged in Social Service projects, such as working with the children at Edgemont and at Wright's Refuge.

Jody Newland, who was President of the Y.W.C.A., is also in White Duchy and Phi Kappa Delta.

CHAPEL

The Student Religious Council serves to co-ordinate the parts of campus religious life into one powerful unit. This group focuses their attention on the religious needs of Duke University, then strives to meet them. All campus religious organizations find expression through the council which consists of the presidents and chairmen of the various groups.

The council has many responsibilities in its work. The members help regulate the program of the Duke Chapel's interdenominational services which inspire the entire campus community. Some of the special activities of the group were sponsoring Easter and Lenten services, an International Tea, and the Religious Emphasis Week held in March.

The Reverend Professor James T. Cleland is Dean of the Chapel.

The position of the Chapel at the center of the campus signifies its importance in the life of the Duke community, for the Duke University Church forms the hub of all religious activities on campus. Uniting the various denominational groups in the worship services held each Sunday Morning is the most important function of the Chapel; yet many other activities were covered this year by its program. At Christmas it was the scene of the Messiah presentation and the Christmas pageant; inspirational programs were held during the Lenten season; throughout the year students found in the Chapel a place for private meditation and worship; and Dean Cleland and Chaplain Barney Jones offered friendly advice in special problems.

The Chapel program was supervised by the Church Board, which consisted of members of the Student Religious Council, representatives from the religious groups, denominational advisers, faculty members, the Dean of the Chapel, and the Chaplain to the University.

Reverend Barney L. Jones is Chaplain of the Duke University Chapel.

Drs. Pelham Wilder, Carl Michalson, and Allan Walker join Sally McIntosh and Dick Moll in a panel discussion.

RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK

On Sunday afternoon of Religious Emphasis Week, Dr. Michalson spoke at a luncheon for the campus leaders.

RELIGIOUS GROUPS

While the Chapel provides a universal atmosphere in its interdenominational services, the Sunday evening meetings of the various religious groups enable each student to remain identified with his own denomination. Almost every branch of American faith is represented in these student organizations: Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Catholic, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Christian, Congregationalist, Unitarian, Evangelical Reform, and Jewish. Each group, under the leadership of a minister or a trained adviser, works and plans separately, yet all work toward a common goal: the social and spiritual advancement of the individual.

The Duke-Durham Unitarian Fellowship meets regularly every other Sunday evening.

Led by its president, Jim Lane, the Newman Club gathers regularly for fellowship every Sunday evening.

Students of the Congregational, Christian, and Evangelical Reformed Churches meet every Sunday evening in a group known as the United Student Fellowship.

An intellectually lively meeting always took place with the Unitarians, whose panel discussions were noted for their modern and scientific approach to the field of religion.

The Catholic students are organized in the Newman Club, and their meetings covered an extensive program aimed at the spiritual development of the individual and his education in the doctrines of the Church, with their applications towards modern living.

The United Student Fellowship was perhaps the most varied group on campus since it was composed of the Congregational, Christian, and Evangelical Reformed students. The group worked at many projects, but concentrated their efforts on charity.

The Methodist Student Fellowship stands out as being the largest. Their meetings displayed a wide variety of events: hymn sings, lectures, and panel discussions, not to mention the recreation and refreshments.

Walter Benjamin, Assistant Minister of the Trinity Avenue Presbyterian Church, addresses the Westminster Fellowship at a Sunday night meeting.

Canterbury Club, the Episcopal student group, meets Sunday nights for a service in the Memorial Chapel and a talk by an outside speaker.

In the Westminster Fellowship, the stimulating program was generally topped by speakers of the members' choice. Under the leadership of Reverend Bill Hoyte, the Presbyterians had one of their most successful years.

The Canterbury Club, under the leadership of the Reverend Joseph O'Brien, held supper meetings at which they presented many outstanding speakers. The Canterbury Club is famous for providing sustenance, not only for the spirit, but also for the body; they have long been noted for their suppers served for a nominal fifty cents.

One of the most active groups on campus is the Lutheran Student Association. The Lutherans' major activity was working on their Venezuelan mission project; but they also concentrated efforts on increasing interest among their members in the study of the Christian doctrine.

With Bill Beta as its president and Melba Taylor as its adviser, the Lutheran Student Association meets every Sunday night for fellowship.

Another large religious group was that of the Baptists, noted for their efforts in the Church's mission field. After the Sunday night suppers, the Baptists were always assured of an evening of fellowship.

The Christian Fellowship group engaged in many activities designed to give the members insight into the Church's approach to doctrines of the life and ministry of Jesus.

The Jewish Hillel Society has adapted itself to its students' beliefs; the viewpoints of the Orthodox, Conservative, and Reformed are integrated into the Hillel services.

Methodist students retreat for a weekend away from the campus.

KAPPA CHI

Kappa Chi is a pre-ministerial fraternity whose purpose is to provide some practical experience and fellowship for students who plan to enter the clergy, regardless of their denomination. The fraternity offers students the opportunity to broaden their views by discussing them with members of other faiths.

Every Thursday evening at seven, the Zeta Chapter of Kappa Chi participated in a vesper service; the worship services were followed by fraternity meetings at which Kappa Chi listened to guest speakers. Through these speakers and association with their brothers, future ministers were exposed to practical and theological problems of their profession.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

The Dean of Trinity College, Herbert J. Herring, is also Chairman of Publications Board.

Publications Board is made up of representatives from the faculty, members elected from both East and West, and editors and business managers of all publications. The function of the organization is not censorship, but rather to maintain a high standard of journalism on Duke campus. Pub Board is responsible for the diversified list of campus publications: the CHANTICLEER, the Chronicle, the Peer, the Playbill; the DukEngineer; and the Archive. This year the board re-evaluated salaries of publication heads, amended the bylaws and elected editors, business managers and their assistants for next year's literary organizations.

PUB ROW HEADS

Perhaps the busiest people on campus were those who worked day after day on "Pub Row." During their long, laborious afternoons, the heads of staffs added to their knowledge of journalism and gained experience in staff co-operation. But work on the third floor of Flowers building also had its humorous moments: the fight for typewriters between staffs, the photographer finding that he had forgotten to put film in his camera —so it went until the editions had gone to press. Then Pub Row heads eagerly awaited the finished products; campus approval was sufficent reward for their tedious days of composition.

G. C. Henricksen, Business Manager and Assistant Comptroller, is adviser to Publications.

The 1956 Chanticleer was under the leadership of a woman for the first time in many years; editor-in-chief Jini Crandall, assisted by Betty McCurdy, organized the network of staffs and editorial heads who worked jointly to put together the Duke yearbook. This year's editorial staff concurred to produce an annual which would be more informative and useful as well as being readable and pictorially attractive.

There were notable improvements in the business department; business manager Bill Tudor announced the CHANTICLEER's record number of copies would be printed because each student would receive his book without charge, and that after this year there would be no more advertisements. The business staff also purchased new typewriters to replace the 1932 models which were being used by the editorial staff.

Financial matters were delegated to Bruce Hyldahl, (Assistant Manager), Sue Bevans (Coed Manager), Bill Tudor, (Business Manager), and John Jordan (Advertising Manager).

The Editor of the Chronicle, Paul Tuerff, is a member of the Omicron Delta Kappa honorary.

Expanding from twelve to sixteen pages a week gave the Chronicle, among other things, a chance for better news coverage, more ads to keep Bill Teller and company happy, and room enough for the many letters which reflected the intensity of student feeling over PGT'S widely-discussed editorials. This larger edition called for more staff members; on Wednesday and Sunday afternoons typewriters often had to be "lifted" from nearby offices.

Editor Paul Tuerff raised many a pen and many an eyebrow over his words on the segregation problem, while others watched over the din of energetic reporters who were rushing to make deadlines, laying out copy, and trying to think of new "mystery segments." Faithful to all were the writers, who kept coming back for more—a good reflection on the "esprit de corps" of the "Tower of Campus Thought and Action."

The Archive office was possibly the only place on campus with two portable radios and an original painting to match its burlap curtains. The green sofa remained there as a mysterious symbol of creative imagination, the coveted asset of aspiring writers whose work filled the pages of the "oldest undergraduate literary magazine in the South."

Odessa Southern, who also frequented other offices on Pub Row, held general meetings of the staff and presided over coffee sessions with struggling authors and overworked staff members.

In the chaos preceding the publication deadlines, Bob Mirandon, assistant editor, often emerged as the stabilizing force around which the staff gravitated. Ann Nicholson handled freshman material and layout work, while the three staff heads, Pat Perrin, fiction, Fred Chappell, poetry, and Ed Norris, art, gathered and selected material.

ARCHIVE

PEER

The campus humor magazine, the Peer, served this year as an intermediary between the facts presented by the Chronicle and the fiction published in the Archive. And although between the unique covers there abounded both facts and fiction, the intent of the magazine was to incorporate these fundamentals into a form of material which would result in humor.

Editor John McAllister and his staff of cartoonists, photographers, writers, jokers, and exaggerators kept their eyes open to the whimsical side of campus life and produced issues whose content ranged from satire to sex. "The lighthearted Peer," as it is affectionately termed, enjoyed a joke on the Archive when it printed a section of stories, book reviews and poems determined to parody its more serious neighbor. The first issue served to introduce freshmen to Duke.

PLAYBILL

Staff-wide, the Playbill organization was smallest on Pub Row, although it turned out one of the most widely-read campus publications. Playbill is actually a campus service organization, serving as a central publishing agency for a number of campus groups. During the year, this organization published the programmes for the Concert Series, the Duke Players, Student Union features, and published the IFC Freshman Handbooks; they also handled programmes for Robert Merrill's concert, Hoof 'n' Horn, and The Merchant of Venice. This was an extension of business over any other year, and for this reason Pub Board saw the need for electing an editor and business manager, positions which had been previously incorporated and held by one person.

The DukEngineer, edited and published by the engineering students, has been rated one of the outstanding student technical publications in the nation. It is the only campus publication that receives no outside financial aid. Published four times a year, the magazine is for the benefit of students, faculty, alumni, and other engineers. Besides publicizing the College of Engineering throughout the country, the DukEngineer gives to students the opportunity to acquire skill in technical writing. Not only are the engineers proud of their serious writing, but their "Lub" has turned out some of the best jokes on campus; hence there is continually a large non-engineering audience.

DukEngineer

Although its activities were little publicized, the Engineers' Student Council performed two important roles for Duke's engineering students in this, its third year of operation. In its first capacity the Council brought the College of Engineering closer to campus-wide politics by appointing members as representatives to M.S.G.A. Secondly, as an independent organization, it acted as a co-ordinator for the activities of the engineering students. Under the direction of two faculty advisers and the officers, Bob Martin, Bowden Ward, Jim Vaughn, and Harold Scheid, it supervised such projects as the Engineers' Show, the Engineers' Ball, and the building of a Homecoming display.

Representatives to E.S.C. included the officers elected by the entire student body of the College of Engineering, as well as the class officers and elected representatives from the engineers' professional and social organizations.

Bob Martin, who is a Senior from Goldsboro, N. C., was President of the Engineering Student Council, and also belongs to Who's Who.

George Evans, a Senior from Asheville, was President of the A.I.E.E. and is in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Each month this year, as in past years, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers gave students of electrical engineering an opportunity to meet informally with their professors, to listen to top professional men discuss topics of particular interest, and to talk with other students about current ideas and problems.

The A.I.E.E. is a professional organization, and as such its student branch helps the electrical engineering student in many ways. It fosters in him the growth of qualities which he cannot derive from his textbooks on amps, ohms, and volts. It provides a contact with EE men throughout the nation, thus channeling new ideas into the local chapter. And most important of all, it gives him a chance to strengthen technical and social bonds with his classmates, with his instructors, and with practicing engineers, establishing an important foundation for the graduating engineer

A.S.C.E.

Civil engineering students at Duke are bonded together in the American Society of Civil Engineers; in this organization, classroom instructions are brought to life by conversing with the practicing engineers and professors who meet with them each month. During the past year, the society also featured speakers, panel discussions, motion pictures and the reading of student papers in order to give members a more realistic picture of their profession.

A.S.C.E., under the direction of officers Dick Amos, Dick Player, and John Katzinski and adviser P. C. Stottlemyer, supplemented these meetings by taking field trips to nearby places of interest. By continuing his membership in the A.S.C.E., the professional engineer keeps informed of new developments within his field and can more easily meet and confer with the outstanding men of his profession.

The Duke Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was formed with a dual purpose: to keep its members informed of the latest advancements in the theory and practice of mechanical engineering in general and to stimulate interest in mechanical projects within the school.

These future engineers, led this year by Dave Nicholson, Norm Briggs, Don Knauss, Paul Risher, and Derrick Deakins, met each month to discuss current problems and projects. A.S.M.E. planned field trips which were both educational and entertaining for the participants; trips included visits to the Western Electric guided missile plant in Burlington and the Norfolk naval yards. Members also receive the monthly publication of A.S.M.E., which contains articles on the latest developments in mechanical engineering.

Occupying Branson building on East Campus, the Duke Players organization provides opportunity for students to develop their dramatic talent. Membership is open to all students on both East and West; talent is the basis for selecting students for the roles in productions, and interest is all that is necessary for working on props or make-up.

This year the Players celebrated their twenty-fifth birthday with a banner year; season tickets were sold, and record numbers attended performances. Early in the season they raised the curtain on The Man Who Came to Dinner, a play which they repeated during Dad's Day weekend. Effort number two, Right You Are, was also well received. As the finale in their big year, the Players presented The Merchant of Venice.

Al Fox, a senior who hails originally from Hampton, Virginia, has served as this year's President of the Duke Players.

DUKE PLAYERS

King Rimbach, California Senior, was President of Hoof 'n' Horn.

'N' HORN

Hoof 'n' Horn was originated at Duke in 1936 and has produced shows yearly or biannually since 1939. Each year the executive council of the organization has chosen one student manuscript and with a cast, director, producer and stage crew composed entirely of students has presented the campus with varying degrees of talent. To be eligible for membership in Hoof 'n' Horn one must actively participate in one show; the executive council, which makes all decisions concerning the show and the club, picks the manuscript, the producer and the director. This council is elected each spring by the membership; it consists of a president, vice-president, two secretaries, a treasurer, and three members at large.

This year's executive council, headed by President King Rimbach, picked Top Secret, a story set in a scenic island paradise, to highlight the gay Joe College Weekend. The show was written by Alan Lacy and was produced by Lacy and Ruth Davis.

Each Tuesday evening, music issues from the Music Room in East Duke where the Women's Glee Club rehearses under the direction of Mrs. Barnes.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

Every Tuesday night East Campus was filled with the strains of both religious and secular music originating, of course, from the Woman's College Glee Club, directed by Mrs. J. Foster Barnes and accompanied by Fran Smith. President Carolyn Hampton handled club business—caroling parties, a Valentine's Ball, and other social gatherings.

Nancy Burns directed the Triple Trio, which is a select group within the Glee Club; these nine girls performed at many community functions during the year. Throughout both semesters the girls worked toward their goal of membership in the Chapel Choir.

President of the Women's Glee Club, Carolyn Hampton, is a Senior from Durham, N. C. and also Vice-President of the Senior Class.

Early in the fall auditions were held for aspiring singers, and the members of the Men's Glee Club began their practice sessions for the school year. In these initial rehearsals each vocal group worked separately to learn new songs and to break in new members. Then the groups were combined, and after more practice, they produced the excellent music heard by visitors and Duke students at their spring concert.

This year's Duke concert and spring tour were held after the death of J. Foster Barnes, who had led the group to national prominence in his twenty-seven years as director. The men of the glee club toured cities in six states, and then climaxed their activities with the annual appearance on the Perry Como Show in New York.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

The Men's Glee Club presented its first concert of the year under the direction of Norman Desrosiers in a program dedicated to Mr. Barnes.

SHOE 'N' SLIPPER CLUB

As a result of opinions expressed in a poll taken by President Marv Botnick and his staff, Duke students enjoyed the rhythms of two of the nation's top bands during Shoe 'n' Slipper and Joe College weekends. Much planning went into the festivities which featured Count Basie in the Fall and Les Elgart in the Spring.

Members of the Duke Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Allan Bone, rehearse for their two big concerts, one in February and one in the Spring.

DUKE SYMPHONY

The sixty-five piece Duke Symphony Orchestra found 1955-56 a year of great progress. One of the outstanding activities of the year came when the orchestra accompanied pianist Jacob Lateiner. In May, the group climaxed its most successful season in its history with their annual spring concert.

The Concert Band annually presents a winter and spring concert for the University community under the direction of Conductor Paul R. Bryan.

CONCERT BAND

Early last fall Duke's serious musicians competed at auditions for seats in the Concert Band. This group placed emphasis upon variety in music and featured in their programs classical, semi-classical, and novelty selections. As a result of diligent practice, the seventy chosen players presented several concerts this year. Shortly after school began, a lawn concert was given; later in the semester another was presented in the East Campus auditorium. Spring semester called for doubled rehearsals as the musicians prepared for a week-long tour of the Southeast and for two additional concerts given on East Campus for the Duke student body.

Conductor Paul R. Bryan and clarinetist Paul Cherry led the Concert Band in its performance of fine music for the campus.

The Duke Ambassadors have gained prestige both at home and abroad as one of the most outstanding collegiate dance bands in the country. This year they provided the musical background for both Coed Balls and played for many class and fraternity dances; in addition to their performances at Duke they entertained at nearby schools. Last spring, the Ambassadors became internationally famous when they toured Air Force bases in Iceland; this year, the band and Nat Greenblatt have again been asked to entertain the Airmen. They will leave immediately after graduation for a two-week tour of the Azores, Bermuda, Scotland, Iceland, and Newfoundland.

AMBASSADORS

PEP

An organization which is full of enthusiasm itself but finds this quality sometimes lacking in other members of the student body, Pep Board undertakes each year to build up and maintain school spirit. East and West each elect a chairman, and these serve as co-chairmen for one campus-wide board; this year's co-chairmen were Kit Weir and Sue Strader; other members were volunteers and representatives from the domitories. Sue and Kit led the groups in its campaigns for team support and worked closely with the Cheerleaders to invent new yells for the cheering section.

BOARD

The Duke Pep Board and the cheerleaders promoted Pep Rallies, sponsored the annual program of skits for an especially outstanding Homecoming celebration, and planned card tricks for the entertainment of spectators on the opposite side of the stadium. When competition and rivalry were especially keen, Pep Board helped to turn excess steam and enthusiasm on the part of the students and fans into rousing displays of sportsmanship; but whether the spirit lagged or soared, Pep Board maintained a steadying influence on both the teams and the fans.

Between halves of the games, Pep Board sponsored the card tricks, one of which turns out to be the popular Duke Blue Devil.

Mr. Paul Bryan and Don Billings led the fine musicians in Duke's Marching Band.

No Duke football game would be complete without the song and spirit provided by the Marching Band. Before each home game, the double-timed rhythm of the snare drums heralded the band's procession onto the field; to acquire this perfection, the band rehearsed three times a week. President John Cartwright and drum major Don Billings headed this year's organization, and Dr. Paul Bryan directed the group. Last fall the band traveled to the Georgia Tech game where they entertained in Grant Field. In March the members were entertained at a dinner-dance, where awards were made, and new officers were elected.

The fast and high-stepping Duke Marching Band, which has won fame for its precision, salutes its school during halves at a football game.

RADIO COUNCIL

The Radio Council exercises broad governing power over the station's policies; the group meets to approve the plans of the management, the budget, unusual expenditures, and broadcast hours. Their most important duty is the election of the five student managers. Radio Council is composed of the Dean of Men, the Dean of Undergraduate Women, the Director of Student Activities, the engineering adviser, appointed representatives from M.S.G.A. and W.S.G.A., representatives from Trinity College, the Woman's College, and the College of Engineering, and the adviser of WDBS who is appointed by Dr. Edens.

Dr. Joseph C. Wetherby, a member of the English and Speech department, is the adviser and chairman of the Radio Council.

Managers of WDBS: Pete Taylor (Production), Buddy Beacham (Business), Ed Harris (Station), Jim Bauer (Engineering). Missing: Jim Abney (Public Relations).

Orientation week and exam-time services kept the oscilloscope peaking eighteen hours a day instead of the normal twelve and a half. New programs appeared in the line-up, too: "The M.S.G.A. Reporter" covered student government developments, "Tomorrow's Classics" added semi-classical music to the usual presentations of pops, classics, and good jazz, and quiet "Music for Studying" filled the wee small hours. Each week a panel of students put a distinguished guest "On the Spot."

All the functions of a radio station are dependent upon each other. The training provided to the large staff, the service to the university, and the fun, too, depend upon the satisfaction of local and national sponsors, which in turn depends upon sound public relations and business practices. Financially, WDBS is on very firm ground for the first time. Duke's radio voice has just completed its most successful year since its establishment.

WDBS

"Serving the entire Duke community" was a favorite phrase with WDBS announcers this year; and, since extending its broadcasting area, the station did just that. Not sparing the budget, this year's staff also improved the studios and equipment; new turntable units, lighting, and air-conditioning were only a few of the additions.

Programming was dressed up to "please most of the people most of the time"; it offered something for every taste and appealed specifically to student interest. Old programs were rejuvenated; "The Devil's Den Show" returned to the air with music and interviews from East Campus. News of world and campus events continued to be an important part of each day's schedule, with "Campusology" being aired at more effective times than in the past. Sports coverage was more complete than ever before. The remote crew traveled over two thousand miles to broadcast all the Duke basketball games, sometimes "feeding" play-by-play descriptions to commercial stations.

BENCH AND BAR

Bench and Bar meets the needs of students who desire to know more about the requirements for entering law school; however, membership is not restricted to pre-legal undergraduates, but is open to all who are interested in knowing more about opportunities in the law profession. One of the most interesting projects of this year was participation in mock trials where members took the parts of lawyers, defendants, witnesses, juries, and judges; these trials served to give members a practical look at the job of the lawyer. Other activities included talks given by law school professors, movies dealing with legal problems, and informal discussions by the group.

Bill Slye, a Senior from Jacksonville, Florida, was President of Bench and Bar which is composed of Duke's lawyers-to-be.

The Duke Pre-Medical Society was led this year by John Lodmell, who is a Senior claiming Washington, D. C., as his home.

The Pre-Medical Society was formed to provide an outlet for the interests of undergraduate students who planned to enter a school of medicine. Headed by John Lodmell, president, and John Sadler, vice-president, the Society met this year on alternate Thursday evenings where they discussed a variety of problems, such as A-bomb after-effects, socialized medicine, and cancer; these discussions were often led by men eminent in the profession. Duke Hospital contributed to the year's program by allowing members to observe operations which involved major problems of medical technique. As a school service, the Pre-Meds again sponsored for the entire campus a free chest X-ray program.

PRE-MED SOCIETY

The Duke Pre-Medical Society gathers in the Union Ballroom on West before a meeting in which they discuss current developments in medicine.

"It is by no means enough that an officer of the Navy should be a capable mariner. He must be that, of course, but also a great deal more. He should be, as well, a gentleman of liberal education, refined manner, punctilious courtesy, and the nicest sense of personal honor." This is by John Paul Jones, founder of the Naval tradition; this in turn is the basic purpose of the organization of NROTC units.

NAVAL R.O.T.C.

The first of the Naval ROTC companies, Able Company, was student-commanded by Tom Sumner, a Senior whose home is Hertford, North Carolina.

The Navy ROTC Band was directed this year by Senior Bob Brannock.

Baker Company is the second of the Navy companies and was led this year by Bob Eadie, who was President of FAC and a member of Who's Who.

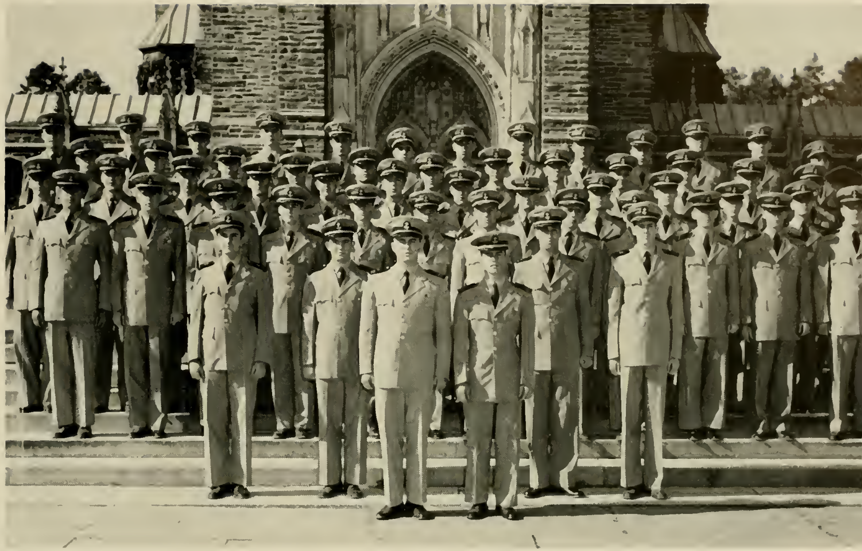
This year, the Duke Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps celebrated for the first time an NROTC day; midshipmen observed the occasion by entertaining spectators with a precision march routine by their drill team in Duke Stadium prior to the Wake Forest game.

The three hundred men of Duke's NROTC unit attend classes in naval science where they learn the basic facts about gunnery, navigation and steam engineering. On the drill field two days each week, the fourth and third class midshipmen learn how to follow orders and to function as a team instead of as an individual; as they become upperclassmen, they will be the commanding officers on the field and responsible for giving orders.



The large and efficient Drill Company is another of the NROTC units at Duke and was commanded by Senior Douglas Grimes from Asheville, N. C.

Many of the midshipmen bring praise and honor to the unit by their performance as members of the drill team, rifle team, band, or other group sponsored by the unit at Duke.

During the summer months, many of the middies become an integral part of the Navy. As third classmen they are the seamen under the eyes of the first class who are the officers. During the cruise, some stand watch as helmsmen; others stand officer of the deck watches, and some others have the job of controlling the ships' armament. This phase of the naval officer's training is probably the most important; here he sees the peace-time Navy in operation, and the material learned in the classroom is put to use.

The Duke University Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps was organized in July, 1949, under the command of Colonel Byron R. Switzer. Shortly after the beginning of the Korean conflict, it reached a strength of more than six hundred cadets.

Colonel Robert J. Knight became the professor of Air Science in 1952, replacing Colonel Switzer. Under Colonel Knight, the unit continued to grow in size, in quality, and in prestige. Recently, with the retirement of Colonel Knight, Colonel Todd took command of the unit. Since the end of the Korean War, enrollment in the cadet corps has decreased until there are now approximately two hundred and fifty cadets in the wing. It is a select, compact unit—one that is producing officers worthy of the United States Air Force.

The mission of the AFROTC program is to prepare students, through a plan of instruction at civilian educational institutions, to serve as officers in the regular and reserve components of the USAF, and to assist in discharging, where necessary, any institutional obligations to offer instruction in military training.

The Duke AFROTC Band, here performing in a review, is open to any cadet who wishes to join it.

ACTIVITIES

The activities available to the AFROTC cadets are varied and numerous. Whether the cadet's free hours are few or many, there are many opportunities for participation open to him. For those who are musically inclined there is the AFROTC Band; while others choose the Precision Drill Team. Both groups perform at reviews, appear in parade on Armed Forces Day, and march at sports events.

Major Myers points out to three AFROTC cadets features of planes similiar to those which they will soon have the opportunity to fly.

The Rifle Team also attracts much interest because it offers the cadet an opportunity to practice shooting and to compete in matches with other units. Among additional activities are the Military Ball, unit parties, orientation flying, field trips, the drill program, the MARS amateur radio station, plus the Newspaper, History, and Photo sections of the Cadet Office of Information Service.

SEMPER FIDELIS

Semper Fidelis is made up of officers, reserves, and men who plan for future careers in the Marines. At their monthly meetings, the members saw movies and heard lectures and discussions about the customs and traditions of the Corps. Not only did they learn about past glories and achievements which have made the Leathernecks so famous, but they also were enlightened about present day activities and the many opportunities available in this service. Semper Fidelis was established on the Duke Campus in 1952, and the organization has grown both in size and importance since this recent beginning.

NURSES' EDUCATION CLUB

The Helen Nahm Nursing Education Club was organized to create a closer relationship among the graduate-nurse students, and between the club members and other students at Duke. The officers and faculty adviser divided the meetings between discussions of club business and dinners with guest speakers. Mrs. Kimi Tanaka's talk on Japanese flower arrangements was so successful that she was asked to return. Mrs. Bingham Dai spoke to them on ceramics, and later in the year, the group invited Dr. Cleland, Dean of the Chapel, to speak to their group.

CHAPEL CHOIR

The Duke University Chapel Choir was comprised this year of approximately two hundred members selected from the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs. The group built up a large repetoire of sacred music which they sang at the Sunday morning Chapel services; the year's most outstanding performance was the annual Christmas presentation of Handel's "Messiah." The choir was under the direction of J. Foster Barnes until his death, and then was directed by the Reverend Norman Desrosiers; the singers attracted many visitors to their programs and to the morning services. More important was the spiritual atmosphere which it helped to effect at the services; students worshipped with the choir as it sang selections by great religious composers.

The Chapel Choir felt a great loss this past February in the death of their director, J. Foster Barnes. Mr. Barnes, known to many alumni and students as "Bishop," had come to Duke in 1927 and was the founder of the Chapel Choir and of the Duke All-Star Concert Series, which brings famous musicians for performances at the university. Mr. Barnes also had built the Duke University Men's Glee Club into one of the outstanding college singing groups in the nation and was scheduled to take them on tour in the spring. While the death of this beloved man was deeply grieved by the choir and the entire university community, the influence of "Bishop" Barnes will long be alive in the fine quality of the music on Duke campus.

WHO'S WHO

Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities is a directory made up of college seniors who have been leaders in campus activities. Including editorial heads, student government officials, class officers, and top organizational leaders forty-eight Duke students achieved membership in the organization this year.

Mention in this publication implies the capacity for future success based upon recognition of the outstanding service that the student has rendered to his school during his preparation for work in a world outside "the ivory tower." Therefore, Who's Who maintains a student placement service which provides opportunities for its members to make important contacts with employers in all areas of work.

The purpose of the Order of Saint Patrick is to give recognition to students who have displayed a high standard of leadership and character in the extra-curricular activities of the School of Engineering. Membership is open to all juniors and seniors who have proved themselves worthy of the honor. This year the fraternity met regularly each month and carried out its program according to the ritual which is held confidential by the members.

The legend which explains the connection between Saint Patrick and engineering came about when a mysterious stone was found during an excavation for a building project in Minnesota. When archaeologists were summoned to decipher the writing, they gave the startling verdict that "Saint Patrick was an engineer!" Since this legend has attracted their attention, March 17 has become a very special day for engineers.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national leadership fraternity composed of college seniors and elected members from the Duke faculty; its purpose is to give recognition for outstanding service. Students tapped for membership have distinguished themselves both scholastically and through participation in extra-curricular activities; ODK brings together the leaders of nearly every large campus organization.

The members of Phi Kappa Delta honorary are, seated: D. Wasden, N. Saunders, A. Alexander, R. Rhine, R. McLemore, J. Dinwoodey, B. McCurdy, J. Newland. Standing: L. Williams, P. Stansbury, S. Davis, E. Pritchett, S. Pfohl, M. Hadley, T. McBride, G. Stratton.

The President of Phi Kappa Delta, a senior women's honorary, was Rosemary Rhine, a Senior living in Pegram.

PHI KAPPA DELTA

The gardenia presented to the new initiates of Phi Kappa Delta signifies recognition of the leadership, scholarship, and service which they have displayed while at Duke. Juniors are tapped in the spring before their final year, and then more seniors are invited to membership the following fall. Besides students, Phi Kappa Delta may tap members of the faculty and deans. This year's meetings featured speakers including Dr. Rhine, Dr. Hobbs, and Dr. Reichenberg.

Members of Beta Omega Sigma leadership honorary are as follows, left to right, on the first row: J. Shirkey, B. Domhoff, B. Mewborne, P. Patton, D. Kramer, M. Temko, D. Pearl, and B. Dudley. Members on the second row: G. Warren, T. Turner, N. Williams, H. Wells, and J. Eggleston.

BETA OMEGA SIGMA

Beta Omega Sigma is an honorary fraternity organized to give recognition to freshman men who have shown outstanding qualities of leadership and scholarship. At the end of each year, those newcomers who have rendered worthwhile service to the university are tapped by this sophomore honorary and are left to carry out its work in the following year. Officially opening the 1955 social season, Beta Omega Sigma and Sandals entertained the campus with a rousing "Goin' Pogo" dance. However, being chiefly a service group, BOS members served on Traditions Board, helping to make Duke men out of the greenhorns; decorated goal posts for football games; judged displays; and ushered at pep rallies. Not to be omitted among BOS undertakings was the perilous job of supervising the freshmen who guarded the big pre-pep rally bonfires from University of North Carolina marauders.

Wearing the key imprinted with the sandal of Mercury, twenty sophomore girls act throughout the year as the messengers and servants of the campus. These girls are selected each spring from the freshman class on the basis of outstanding potential qualities of leadership, scholarship, service to the school, and, above all, willingness to serve. Beginning in the following September as guides and proctors for freshmen during orientation week, the Sandals continue their work by taking roll at college assemblies, conducting prospective students and their families on tours of the Woman's College, typing payday bills, and doing those many odd jobs which call for fleet-footed workers. Joining the BOS members from West Campus, the Sandals, this year, perpetuated the tradition of presenting Duke's first formal dance. With the profits from the dance, the Sandals added money to their newly formed scholarship fund, which is awarded annually to the sophomore who exemplifies Sandals' ideals.

The Sandals President was Dinah Porter, a Southgate sophomore.

SANDALS

Sandals first row: A. McKee, M. I. Carlyle, D. Welt, E. Bradley, C. Black, S. Wheeler, S. McIntyre, L. Hanford, and F. Page. Second row: D. Porter, B. Gott, C. Bowersox, N. Turnbull, T. Hanes, C. Herndon, and E. Jordan. Third row: J. McLawhorn, C. Peters, J. Adams, and J. Perry.

PHI ETA SIGMA

Phi Eta Sigma is a scholastic honorary fraternity for freshman men who have attained an average of 3.5 for the first semester. Not wishing to have a monopoly on this honor, the chapter sponsored "help sessions" every Tuesday and Thursday for freshmen who needed tutoring in mathematics, chemistry or physics. Continuing their purpose of emphasizing high scholarship, Phi Eta Sigma and Ivy gave a spring banquet for all freshmen who had attained at least "3.00" averages at mid-semester.

President of Phi Eta Sigma, scholastic honorary for freshman men, was Frank Camp, sophomore from Atlanta, Georgia.

Sophomore Sue Brunner, of Wilmington, Del., was Ivy President.

IVY

Freshmen arrive at Duke and are immediately beseiged by meetings, activities, and homework. Ivy, the scholastic honorary for freshman women, endeavors to keep averages from being submerged by the deluge of social life and extra-curricular activities. The honorary fraternity initiates each semester all freshmen who have made a 3.25 average; members of Ivy then undertake as a project tutoring students who desire help in their work. Ivy joined Phi Eta Sigma to sponsor a dinner for all freshmen who had made "B" averages at mid-semester.

Pi Tau Sigma

Members of Pi Tau Sigma, the honorary for mechanical engineers, are chosen on the bases of scholastic achievements, character, citizenship, and professional interest. As its major project this year, the group revised the job reference file, which was instituted for all engineering students and which contains the address of all alumni. The fraternity also awards annually a Mark's Handbook to the outstanding sophomore in mechanical engineering; and each spring the chapter members serve as guides for the Engineer's Show.

TAU BETA PI

Tau Beta Pi, which is considered the Phi Beta Kappa of Engineering, is made up of undergrads who have shown distinguished scholarship and exemplary character in the College of Engineering. An award is presented each spring by this organization to the most outstanding freshman engineer. At their spring banquet, the group enjoyed a talk by Igor Benson; by way of a campus service project the Tau Beta Pi engineers co-sponsored, with the Order of Saint Patrick, classes for any students who wished to learn to use the slide rule.

First row: J. Little, B. Ward, R. Wilson, G. Evans, E. Gunter, R. Player. Second row: N. Long, W. Kumpf, D. Nicholson, J. Proctor, J. Vaughn. Third row: D. Ballantyne, R. Lee, J. Kopf, N. Briggs. Fourth row: W. Litle, R. Martin, D. Knauss, W. Anderson, T. Parker.

SIGMA DELTA PI

Through membership in Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish students have an opportunity to increase their understanding of the language and culture of Spain. Sigma Delta Pi, headed by William Hardin, was established to reward those who achieve merit in hispanic studies and to provide a means for the members to practice spoken Spanish. Eligibility for membership in this honorary requires an average of 3.0 in Spanish studies and an overall average of 2.8. Among the various social activities, the group included a banquet, an initiation, and a Christmas party—complete with a piñata.

French influence and culture was observed by Tau Psi Omega members, a society that functioned to promote enjoyment, understanding, and intellectual appreciation of French life, thought, and language on the Duke campus. President Sherry Kearns and vice-president Mary Alice Milligan led the group toward the appreciation of French civilization. Among the various activities promoting these objectives were: weekly dinner meetings and open houses, and Tau Psi Omega occasionally visited Chapel Hill for dinner at the Rathskeller. In the spring a dance, several parties, and a retreat were held.

TAU PSI OMEGA

Henry Helmke, President of Delta Phi Alpha, talks with Dr. H. Salinger, new adviser, and Dr. C. Vollmer, retiring adviser.

At dinner meetings held regularly throughout the year, Delta Phi Alpha sponsored movies and speakers in order to stimulate interest in the study of German language, literature, and civilization. The members of the German honorary, which was headed this year by Henry Helmke, held their December meeting in Chapel Hill where they astounded other customers by conversing during the meal in the language of the "Deutschland." To qualify for membership, a student must maintain an overall "C" average and have a "B" average in German studies.

Alpha Kappa Psi is the professional fraternity in commerce and business administration. The activities included three dinner meetings with featured speakers; four tours; and participation in the annual district conference which was held this year at V.P.I. This spring the fraternity awarded a scholarship to the senior who had compiled the highest average in economics, accounting, or business administration; Alpha Kappa Psi helped in the job placement of its senior members through participation in the national fraternity directory.

ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY

The Arnold Air Society is composed of those AFROTC cadets who have exemplified greatest potential leadership both on the drill field and in the classroom. The Society elects its own officers and conducts periodic meetings programmed with the intent of better familiarizing the members with the knowledge necessary to future leaders in the United States Air Force.

Cadet Lt. Colonel Richard D. Manuel presided at this year's meetings, at which lectures and discussions were heard dealing with the many phases of the Air Force program. Through these meetings the men became better acquainted with opportunities open to them as careermen in the Air Force.

Officers of Pi Mu Epsilon are as follows: Ted Parker (Treasurer), Ellen Wallace (Secretary), and Bill Kumpf (President).

Pi Mu Epsilon, founded at Syracuse University in 1914, established its first chapter in North Carolina eighteen years later at Duke University. Since its establishment on this campus in 1932, the mathematics honorary has steadily grown in membership and importance. With the purpose of promoting scholarship in the field of mathematics, the honorary twice a year invites students who have completed courses through integral calculus with at least an average of "B" and who have maintained an overall "B" average into membership. Led this year by William Kumpf as President, Ellen Wallace as Secretary, and Ted Parker as Treasurer, the honorary sponsored men prominent in the field of mathematics as speakers at their meetings.

PI MU EPSILON

Varsity "D" members, 1st r: R. Kempler, M. Botnick, M. Rose, A. Rodensky, A. Scharps, D. Peyton, A. Lewis. 2nd r: B. Talman, J. Peters, N. Kredich, G. Atkinson, P. Erlenbach, D. Snowberger, T. Blackburn, B. Kline, R. Weitzman, J. Russell, J. Long, G. Hoover, L. Gardner, T. Colmey, M. Daughtry, D. Sedlack, H. Wells, R. Green, W. Anderson, K. Jones, A. Masius.

VARSITY "D" CLUB

All students who have earned the coveted white "D" are eligible to become members of the Varsity "D" Club. Led by Marty Doherty, this group of athletes met in their chapter room in the Indoor Stadium to hear speakers well-known in the field of athletics. The aim of the club was to promote unity among athletes and to stimulate the interests of Duke students in the sports program; members endeavored to co-operate with the various campus news organizations to insure good sports coverage. The club helped to promote sportsmanship by providing welcoming committees for visiting teams. Among the social activities Varsity "D" sponsored a banquet in the spring.

To become a member of Delta Phi Rho Alpha, woman's athletic honorary, a girl must be an active participant in sports and must have demonstrated qualities of good sportsmanship. Each spring at the Awards Assembly, seven rising juniors and seniors who have fulfilled these requirements are tapped into the fraternity; these girls have exhibited the ideals of the honorary by taking part in the dormitory and sorority intramurals where they showed consistently good sportsmanship. Delta Phi Rho Alpha does not hold regular meetings, but the members spend their time in athletic participation. A gold "D" is presented annually to the senior who has been the most outstanding in promoting interest and participation in sports.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Reinstating the second semester rush program this year, the Interfraternity Council worked hard to make that rather hectic part of school life as beneficial as possible to both freshmen and fraternity men. Besides directing the intricate procedure of rush, I.F.C. continuously worked for unity among Greek organizations, independents, and the administration. Another undertaking, Greek Week, was designed and planned by the council to bring all fraternities together on some worthwhile project. On the lighter side, I.F.C. sponsored a wheel-barrow race—an opportunity for comedy and competition for its members.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

Woman's Pan-Hellenic Council, composed of two members from each group, functions to correlate the activities of sorority life on Duke campus. Before the school year began, Pan-Hellenic published and circulated among incoming students booklets introducing them to the history and objectives of Greek organizations. Pan-Hellenic undertook to effect a new rush program, geared for more efficiency and better results. Pan-Hellenic also sponsored a work shop at which members of all Greek organizations could discuss problems or new ideas, awarded two scholarships, and supported a European orphan.

The President of Pan-Hellenic Council was Sallye Senerchia, who is also a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Alpha Chi Omega pledges, First row: D. Mote, M. A. Evans, C. Lucas, G. Bowles. Second row: N. Reise, M. Miller, A. Sprunt, M. Tuttle, A. Baker, G. Marshall.

Mary Sue Shipe, the President of Alpha Chi Omega, is a Senior hailing from Oak Hill, West Va.

The eventful 1955-56 year got off to a fine start with the inauguration of our new rush party, the Swiss Chalet, followed closely by the pledge breakfast welcoming our new pledges. The fall season was marked by Monday night coffees, where many plans were made for our intra-sorority spaghetti dinner and the picnic at the Duke gates. Pledge activities included parties with other pledge classes and with the actives.

With second semester came the Cheerful Cherub Day and the biggest of all, the presentation of the new initiates at a dinner dance at the Carolina Country Club in Raleigh. In March our rush workshop was held, and heads were put together for April's Joe College float. The sisters of Alpha Chi Omega finished the year by journeying to Washington, D. C., to attend a summer province house party there.

On the Alpha Chi Omega float for Joe College Weekend, "Joe in Wonderland," Joe and Alice ride with the Mad Hatter, a grinning Cheshire Cat, and the tardy Rabbit.

As a Senior from Nitro, West Virginia, Marilyn Dent, was President of the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority, and calls Aycock her home away from home.

September arrived, and the Alpha Delts too
Came lumbering back to dear ole D.U.
To start out the season with pep in high gear
In a remodeled room with a real chandelier!
Rushing began, and with Kaki and Dent
We pledged fifteen girls who were just "heaven-sent."
We were mighty proud too of our campus big wheels
Hatcher, Marty, Sal and Margie, big deals!
We beamed with pride o'er our CHANTICLEER beauties.
Betsy and Peg, plus four Homecoming cuties.
The C.P. project we continued this fall.
Our social life centered 'round our big pledge ball
And pizza and coffees and breakfasts and teas
And parties with U.N.C. Zete's and SAE's.
All that we've shared we review with a sigh
And treasure another year in ADPi.

On a rare afternoon of relaxation, Phyllis Oshinsky, Gabrielle Wachsner, and Peggy Tobias are joined by some of their AEΦ sisters in a friendly game of cards.

Peggy Tobias, a Senior from High Point, North Carolina, was the President of Alpha Epsilon Phi.

At the conclusion of a successful rush period, several wonderful pledges were our reward; we extended our official welcome to them at a pledge banquet. Then during the rest of the fall we settled down to numerous coffees, to open houses with fraternities of Duke and Carolina, and to Sunday night suppers in the room. At Christmas we had our annual party with the Tep's for the children of the South Side Nursery.

Early in the second semester we had a party with the Phi Lambda Phi's of Carolina, and in March came the crowning glory of the Pledge Dance at the Union Ballroom. This year we boasted of various notable people: FAC's Dotty and Peggy, Dotty with cheering and Student Union, and Judy as Co-ed Editor of the Chronicle. Mary Lee and Louise were in the Nereidian Club, and Phyllis was chairman of Pan-Hel rush advisors.

At the end of a chaotic but successful rush period the Alpha Phi's had a fine pledge class assembled at the annual pledge banquet at the Washington Duke Hotel. During the activities of the fall semester, sorority spirit was manifested in many ways including numerous gate parties, our 2 a.m. volleyball practice in the gym, our enthusiasm at the weekly dinners, Monday coffees, and our Christmas caroling party.

Second semester brought with it the many varied activities of initiation—the initiation banquet and gala pledge dinner dance at the Duke Hotel. Then, with memories of last year's mountains of pâpier-maché and vats of lavendar paint, we devoted all our energies to our Joe College float. However, we conserved some of our vigor for final exams and our annual house party held at Myrtle Beach in June.

The second and first semester Presidents of the Tri Delt's were Mary Lou Babcock, from Silver Spring, Md., and Patsy Diggs, from Hampton, Va.

Parties, fun, and new found friends marked the beginning of sorority life with our pledges. In November, the Wash Duke was the scene of the Founder's Day Banquet with the Carolina Tri Delt's. At Christmas, we played Santa to the Edgemont children with the Phi Kap's, and later on the U.N.C. KA's, Phi Kap's, and Phi Gam's entertained us royally. Religious and cultural meetings were held with guest speakers Rev. Carr and Dr. Ropp.

In January, Patsy, our President, presided for the last time and soon was a Tri Delt at the altar. Mary Lou assumed the presidency in time for the annual Pledge Dance and Initiation in February. Soon afterwards, work began on our float and farewell plans for the seniors. Campus notables this year were: Margie as CHANTICLEER Beauty Queen, Student Forum Head, and several House Presidents and Judicial Reps.

In September the D.G.'s returned to campus bearing leis for the Aloha rush party. According to Hawaiian custom, the girls gave them to rushees who left them behind as a symbol of returning. And return they did—twenty enthusiastic pledges. Highlighting our fall activities were the party with the Kappa Sigs, the chartered bus trip to Roanoke College to initiate our new chapter there, and our traditional slumber party.

At Christmas we gave a party for the blind girl that we had "adopted." Second semester brought the Pledge Dance. As each girl was presented she really made her debut into Delta Gamma, because six hours later she proudly wore her Golden Anchor. In March, we celebrated Founders' Day, and April marked Joe College float time. In May we retreated to the woods to make plans for our summer beach trip and next year.

The 1955-56 President of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, Nancy Newell, is a Senior who comes from Uniontown, Pennsylvania, but she makes her home in Jarvis Dormitory while attending Duke

Led by President Nancy Newell, the Thetas returned to Duke anticipating another active year. After pledging, we honored our twenty-one pledges at a breakfast. November brought a picnic and a dinner at Rinaldi's. In December, the pledges took over at a Charles Addams party, and during Christmas we adopted a needy family, held our gift-wrapping party and parties for the Edgemont children with the SAE's and KA's.

Before exams, the Carolina Phi Gams gave us a party, and second semester got under way with the annual dinner dance at the Carolina Country Club, Initiation and the Banquet, and the launching of our social service project. It was only at the farewell party for the seniors that we could look back on the year—our evenings of making up songs, Lois as Homecoming Queen, Jean as KA Rose, and our Joe College float.

The KD's returning in September began the year by rushing "that girl," but survived with weary smiles and a wonderful pledge class. Soon after, we were visited by our Province President and held our pledge banquet, noteworthy for the poetry traded between big and little sisters. Christmas brought many activities including the Phi Delt and Pi Kap parties, at which we entertained some of Durham's underprivileged children.

To round off the Noel festivities, the Carolina KD's invited us over to Chapel Hill to a party where the singing of the St. A's added to the Yuletide spirit. The New Year was enlivened by the brief but brilliant sojourn to the Carolina Inn for the annual pledge dance and work began on the Joe College float. Final exams arrived again, with the sisters coming out to bid our KD seniors a fond farewell.

In September 1955, it was back to school, and back together. October brought the excitement of rush and pledging. November featured a Thanksgiving party with ATO. In December we had a coffee with the ADPi's, a Christmas party with the Phi Psi's, a dinner with the alums, plus our own christmas and scholarship party where Dr. Sales spoke. And all through the semester we worked at the Veteran's Hospital.

The new year was started by a coffee with the Pi Phi's, and when exams were over we held a scholarship banquet with a speaker. Then came our Golden Triad dinner dance for the pledges. In March our pledges were initiated. April found us working hard on our Joe College float and then, the year was drawing to a close. At the senior banquet we said fond farewells to our seniors and another year with KKG.

"Will the meeting please come to order!" Sue lowered the gavel while the Phi Mu's tread lightly over the new rug. "Dix" had her mind on names, open houses, our gala French Party, and the other various complications involved in rush. The result was a fine pledge class for Gamma Epsilon. In the fall Dee planned a special round of social affairs including the big sister-little sister banquet, a cabin party, coffees, and listening-in parties.

Before exams the pledges displayed their talent with a French Party in our honor. In February was the Valentine party for Edgemont children with the Delta Sig's and the dinner dance for the pledges at the Hope Valley Country Club. In March we held our annual steak and beans dinner and also worked at the Veteran's Hospital. In April came the work on the Joe College float and vacation time again.

Sally Jett, who presided over the 1955-56 meetings of Pi Beta Phi Sorority, is a Senior coming from Baltimore, Maryland and is also a member of the senior honorary, Phi Kappa Delta.

The Pi Phi's stepped back on campus into the whirl of rush and pledging. In October, merry madness in costumes broke loose at the Halloween party. Then there were the good times at the Delt and Phi Psi open houses. Our unforgettable list contained Reverend Carr's Christmas message to us, the fire drill, the Christmas party for Edgemont children with the Betas and the Golden Triad dinner dance.

Our East Campus activities included coffees and tournaments with other sororities, and the Pan-Hel caroling. Honors and high positions were numerous this year—Elsa, Sara and Lynn as WSGA officers, Phi Beta Kappa inductees, Sally on Student Union board of governors, Phi Kappa Delta, F.A.C., Elsa and Sara in White Duchy—but as a group it was the fun we shared in Pi Beta Phi that was significant.

The Sigma Kappas returned this year to a completely redecorated chapter room. We soon began the season known as rush, which was climaxed by the Mardi Gras party and the welcoming of the new pledges. Soon after, the chapter had a hamburger fry at Perry's Cabin. In November the founding of the sorority was commemorated by a reception given by the chapter honoring the alumni of Durham.

Later in the fall semester the alumni gave us a buffet supper in honor of the pledges at the home of Mrs. R. L. Predmore. At Christmas, we had a party where the members and pledges exchanged gifts. Then in the spring, we had initiation and our major social function of the year, the annual dinner dance at the Carolina Inn for the new initiates. In the spring the chapter worked with homes for the aged in Durham.

President of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority for 1955-56 was Betty Jane Davis, a Senior from Greensboro, North Carolina, who lives in Giles Dormitory.

The Zeta's enthusiastically returned to Duke and after a successful rush period, celebrated with a cabin party for the pledges. Other activities included coffees, a dinner with the alumns and fraternity open houses. We prepared a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family and at Christmas we had a party with the alums, caroled with the Delt's at the V.A. Hospital and gave a party for the Duke Hospital children.

Second semester our Province President visited us, the chapter had a Valentine party for the Durham Day nursery children, and the climax of the season—the presentation of our pledges at a dinner dance at the Sir Walter Raleigh Hotel. Then there was the annual steak and beans dinner and the hours of fun working on the Joe College float. In May we had a banquet at the Castle honoring our seniors.

Several energetic Zeta Tau Alpha's work late into the night to finish up some last minute details on their float for the Joe College Parade held on the following day.

Duke's ATO's, headed by Mark Johnson, enjoyed in 1955-56 one of their most successful years. As in the past, the Tau's were active politically and athletically and had a good social year while keeping a high scholastic average. Our intramural footballers barely missed division title, the basketball team played in the finals for the university championship and our trackmen were responsible for our overwhelming win in the wheelbarrow race.

The social calendar for Alpha Tau Omega was highlighted by the annual Sweetheart Ball, which was held this spring at the Hope Valley Country Club. Throughout the year, Tau's and their dates were frequenters of the Saddle Club and the Patio, and warm weather brought many trips to Smith's Lake. Other social events included parties with the U.N.C. Tau's and the party with the Kappa Kappa Gamma's for Edgemont children.

Senior Bob Leak, whose home is in Rockingham, North Carolina, was the President of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, while he also held positions as an F.A.C. and Treasurer of the Senior Class.

It was September 1955 as the brothers of Gamma Rho of Beta Theta Pi returned to house H. By February, the Beta's had done amazingly well in all phases of college life. Scholastically, Gamma Rho rose to sixth place on campus. In extra-curricular activities, Beta's held positions on the Pep Board, Shoe and Slipper, and Student Union Board, and the brothers had numerous representatives in every activity.

Beta continued to have the best and most talked about parties, despite the competition. Rushing brought twenty-three fine pledges, and Beta athletes excelled both in intramurals and varsity competition. Second semester brought Spring vacation in Florida, the pledge dinner, the beach weekend, and other fine social functions. Thus under prexy Bob Leak, Beta Theta Pi rounded out another successful year.

Fall activities for the Delta Sig's began with a skating party; this initial social event was followed by homecoming weekend which ushered in an unusual flurry of activities including the large display—complete with dry ice and mechanical failures. November brought the Shoe and Slipper dances and the cabin party, and the Christmas season inspired a frat party with the brothers exchanging nonsensical gifts.

Engagements and pin-ups kept an increasing number of the brothers away from their studies. Someone must have studied, though, for when the QP's were finally recorded, Delta Sigma Phi came out with one of the top scholastic averages. Not all study, however, for there were pledge battles, rat courts, and many parties which spiced the otherwise dull weekly routines; a busy year for the brothers of Delta Sigma Phi.

A Senior who comes from Elizabeth, New Jersey, Don Sims, presided over the meetings of the brothers of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and he is majoring in economics while attending Duke.

Again this year the Delt's won first place in the homecoming display contest. Their "Murray-Go-Round" spun to victory music while a jubliant Blue Devil rode the vanquished mascots of earlier competitors. Besides Homecoming parties, fall social events included an open house with girls from Hanes House, several smorgasbords, a masquerade cabin party, and a semi-formal Christmas dance at the Washington Duke Hotel.

The redecoration of the card room brightened the section with its weird originality as four painted aces on a black wall replaced the nautical theme of last year. Then came rush, and a pledge class twenty-five strong supplied a very real basis for confidence in future excellence. Climaxing the year's social activities, the new pledges and the actives entertained their dates at the annual Rainbow Ball.

Picturing a vacationing Joe College complete with the waves, radio, and sand, the Delta Tau Delta's won honorable mention with their float "On a Beachy Holiday."

Strains of "Dixie" faded in the distance, the Stars and Bars were lowered, and once again June graduations rang the curtain down on a great year for the Grand Old Gang. Football open houses, cabin parties, and the alumni supper filled the fall semester. After exams, rushing, the pledge dance at the Carolina Country Club in Raleigh, and the Old South Ball kept the brothers from spending too much time studying.

Kappa Alpha brothers brought honors to the fraternity in the sports field, especially in football and baseball. The intramural fields and courts also were filled with southern brothers—if not winning, always making a good showing. So the year's history has been recorded, but we wish our seniors good luck upon leaving the familiar section and bid the loyal brothers of Kappa Alpha never to give up—for the South will rise again.

Within the confines of the upper quadrangle one cannot help but notice the beautiful crescent and star, symbol of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. Many things have taken place under this banner this year; 1955-1956 will go down as one of the most outstanding years in Eta Prime's history. There were numerous cabin parties, dinner parties, rush functions, serenades, and big game weekends to keep Kappa Sig's and their dates busy.

The highlight of the social calendar was "Stardust Weekend" which included the Black and White Ball on Friday night and a steak dinner the following evening. The high point of the event came when the 1956 Dream Girl, elected by the brothers of Kappa Sig, was presented. With these memories we bid farewell to our seniors, not forgetting to add our "thanks" for all that they have done for the chapter.

To make things perpetually gay around the section, Dave returned with his hearse, and Mole just returned. In addition to its many fraternity activities, Lambda Chi prided itself on holding leading positions on campus and taking an active part in extracurricular activities.

After the regular football season had ended, Kenan Stadium still witnessed football excitement as the Gamma Theta's of Duke played the Lambda Chi's of UNC in the Schlitz Bowl. Unable to repeat the 12-0 victory of 1954, we settled for a 6-6 tie. Despite bruises and blackened eyes, the brothers felt very proud as they counted the one-hundred dollar profit which was donated to the Chapel Hill Orphanage.

The "Good Ship Phi" sailed onto campus with a full complement of Brothers aboard, and Phi's went ashore in preparation for another successful year. Lengthy plans were made concerning social, scholastic, and extra-curricular activities, so that the chapter would be able to maintain its previous status in the realm of campus leadership. And with this plan of action firmly in mind, the crew began their work.

The fall semester was liberally sprinkled with social functions which ranged from cabin parties to our Christmas formal. As the end of the term approached, we prepared for the bi-yearly seige of finals with our typical determination. With the advent of rushing, the chapter rooms took on a fresh coat of paint in anticipation of the season, which resulted in Phi Delta Theta welcoming aboard ship 21 new pledges.

In our reminiscence of North Carolina Alpha over the past year, we recall things which have meant a great deal to us: the fall formal, the Christmas Party at the Cerebral Palsy Hospital, the cabin parties and the open houses. But of equal importance to N. C. Alpha is the realization that college has something more to offer; books and tired eyes are firmly imprinted in our memories of college and fraternity life.

In addition to studies and parties, this year has seen a renewed enthusiasm for athletics. Phi Psi had the intramural tennis champions; varsity men in soccer, track, and wrestling; many enthusiastic "part-time" athletes; and sport's announcer Pete Yoars, who broadcast Duke basketball games to WDBS listeners. We believe that the best fraternity is made up of many different kinds of people —and this has been the goal of Phi Kappa Psi.

Senior Bill Tudor, President of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, was a member of ODK, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and Business Manager of the CHANTICLEER.

President Bill Tudor rapped the gavel and we began: football open houses; "Pitt and Pendulum" for Homecoming; Jane Eberhardt crowned Phi Kap queen at the Black and Gold Ball; Christmas, and the Edgemont kids were sharp, the quartet flat; Pea Pickers convened daily; Rushing, and pledge we did, with Marshall at the helm; pledge banquet; spring formal; Joe College—and another year is behind us.

But a year of more than events—a year of growth, both for Nu and its men. Seven years have passed since Phi Kappa Sigma was instilled with fresh blood, years in which Nu has developed carefully but quickly into a chapter of real significance. Next year, the pinnacle of Phi Kap hopes materializes as we move into a fine new section, House CC. For us it was a year of high progress, a year to be remembered.

Brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha returned to school in September with high hopes for another successful year. Starting the year off right, we built a homecoming display good enough to place second in the judging. Open houses, the Christmas dance, the Edgemont party, Joe College—all were done in top-notch PiKA form. As for sports, the crimson tide set few records, but a basketball championship satisfied us.

Somehow, though, when you start looking back over the year, it is the other things that count: Brownie out of gas, Tink's intellectual orgies, a head through the door and "Jimmie"—the day-to-day living that binds and holds any group together. With this abundance of friendship and this loyalty to Fraternity ideals, it couldn't have been anything but a great year for the pledges and actives of Pi Kappa Alpha of 1955-56.

Football weekends ushered in a busy social calendar for the Pi Kap's. However, the party life of Homecoming was supplemented by a little work as the brothers decorated the front of the section with "Murray's Meat Grinder." Cabin parties at Crabtree, open houses in the section, and gate parties continued to provide diversion during the fall—not to mention the many weekend trips to the Saddle Club or the Castle.

The 1955 Rose Ball was the highlight of first semester activities as the brothers elected Carol Pulver as their Pi Kap Rose. Then, a new year and spring time brought its inevitable good times: Our Pledge Dance honoring an outstanding group of new members, Joe College and Les Elgart with the accompanying round of fraternity parties, and the climax of a successful year, the house party at Myrtle Beach.

This year Sigma Alpha Epsilon's ritualistic and social programs centered around the commemoration of their 100th birthday. The Duke chapter, North Carolina Nu, celebrated the Centennial with the Davidson, University of North Carolina and North Carolina State chapters at a dinner at the Hope Valley Country Club. The broadcast from Tuscaloosa dedicated to the occasion took the place of after-dinner speakers.

Social functions included open houses during the football season, gate parties, and weekend get-togethers; second semester, the SAE's gave their traditional spring formal. Life in the section centered around protecting the Lion from extraneous coats of paint or confiscation by other fraternities. SAE's throughout the year were known for their hats, their parties, and their members who were outstanding in all phases of Duke activities.

The presidents of Sigma Chi, for the first and second semesters respectively, were seniors Dave Hartman from East Greenwich, Rhode Island, and Carl Bentz who hails from York, Pennsylvania.

The year 1955-56 proved to be a period of great progress for the brothers who wear the White Cross. With the completion of our new chapter room this fall, Sigma Chi could lay claim to one of the most attractive fraternity sections on the campus. Early in the spring semester, the close of rushing found us with a roster of outstanding pledges who added fresh enthusiasm to the many fraternity projects.

As usual, the social calendar was jam-packed. In February, the annual Sigma Chi Sweetheart dance was held at the Carolina Country Club; then spring vacation provided a pleasant vacation before the brothers returned to resume college activities. While the suntans faded, Duke Sig's were hard at work on their Joe College float, hoping again this year to return to the Sigma Chi's the "Most Beautiful Float" trophy.

SIGMA CHI CENTENNIAL

The President of the Sigma Nu fraternity, Joe McCreery, comes from White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

The year 1955-56 was a busy one for the brothers of Sigma Nu. Beginning in the fall we sponsored open houses on football Saturdays; the Pitt game found us building a florescent homecoming display. Then came the Christmas season which was celebrated at a party with the Alpha Chi Omega's for the children at Edgemont cummunity center and with a formal dance at the Washington Duke featuring Philmore Hall.

Besides working on fraternity projects, brothers were active in campus activities: some Phi Beta Kappa's, an editor, a few presidents and a tennis champ. Joe McCreery was a commander, one member put in many hours to become next year's football manager, one was awarded the psychology department's Montgomery Mouse, and Sigma Nu was represented in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Senior Ed Gunther, who comes from New York, was the President of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and is a member of Pi Tau Sigma and A.S.M.F.

In September, 1955, there occurred a gathering in section AA, Duke University which resulted in a year of social and academic achievement for the "fraternity with a heart." The returning brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon launched the new school year with justified confidence and a spirit of unity and brotherhood which was to be matched only by the leadership qualities that were found among their membership.

First of the many social events was the party celebrating the redecoration of the chapter room; the cabin party a few weeks later was a change from the usual open house occasions. We will remember also Don Boswell's guitar music, John Sellers and his Canadian tam, Don Stover's new Chrysler, the fun and study around the section—all the big and little things which made it a good year for Sigma Phi Epsilon.

WELCOME ALUMNI

Sigma Phi Epsilon worked long hours to complete this welcome to their alumni in which they predict that the Blue Devil will push the Panther up the skyscraper.

Senior Ted Taub, a pre-law student coming from Tampa, Florida, was President of Tau Epsilon Phi for the second year, an F.A.C. and on M.S.G.A.

It was a bright Durham sun that greeted us last September as we once again took our places in the cellars of old BB. Little did we expect that this would be our last year below ground—where the pipes are a-plenty. As Chancellor Ted Taub banged the gavel, the first gruelling round of the 1955-56 encounter saw us preparing a fine social calendar, beginning with our second annual Homecoming Dance.

Our Christmas party held at the Southside Nursery was again highly successful, and truly indicative of the TEP creed—serving for the love of service. Fraternity life took on full meaning as we worked together on many projects and enjoyed the friendship and high spirit that prevailed among the members; now all eyes look to next year as we carry high hopes for a very bright future in our new section.

Seniors Dick Hug from Penns Grove, New Jersey, and Buddy Hynson, who comes from Washington, North Carolina, led the brothers of Theta Chi.

Starting our 100th year, the brothers of Theta Chi set sail upon the blue waters of Methodist Flats. Sirens lured away the hearts and pins of some of our stalwart crew on this perilous voyage. Making port for the Homecoming celebration, all hands stormed the Castle, a seizure which was overwhelmingly successful. Our next port was Shoe and Slipper Weekend—a refueling stop which everyone seemed to enjoy.

An Alpha Chi Omega-Theta Chi Christmas party at the Cerebral Palsy Hospital was followed by a serenade at East and Hanes House. Later on, our sturdy whaler returned from the Freshman Quad with new hands. The Dream Girl dance was the first lowering for the new arrivals. As we again hoisted sail, the ship fared well until we were beset by perilous storms—but port was reached safely as exams ended and June brought freedom.

The men of Zeta Beta Tau returned this year to begin another year at "Dear Ole Duke." Amidst the clamor of football season, our open houses and the Homecoming dance provided the brothers with many social functions. Around the quad, ZBT's were in almost every major activity; Marv Botnick presided for S'n'S, Bernie Rineberg headed IFC, Sam Jacobson was on Judicial board, and Dick Jacoves and Art Rodensky were cheerleaders.

The brothers displayed prowess in scholarship by amassing an all-fraternity average of 2.5, with Brother Galinski making Phi Beta Kappa, and twelve men joining the dean's team. The year's experience contains only one sad note: the realization that June will find our seniors scattering to various sections of the country. To them we extend the best of luck and a personal invitation to return to Alpha Upsilon.

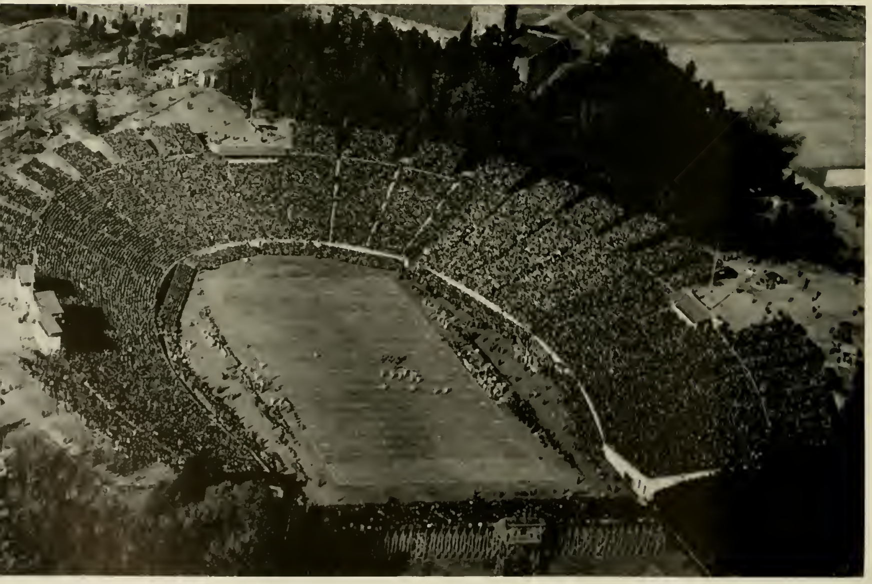
FOOTBALL

Playing one of the roughest schedules in the history of Duke football, Coach Bill Murray's Blue Devils again recorded for the third straight season a final tally of seven wins against two losses and one tie. After defeating three relatively light teams, the Blue Devils were pitted against four of the strongest teams in the country: Rose Bowl champions, Ohio State University; the University of Pittsburgh; Navy, Sugar Bowl champions; and Georgia Tech, last year's Cotton Bowl winner.

The highlight of the '55 season was Duke's 20-14 victory over Ohio State at Columbus, enabling the Blue Devils to preserve their unbeaten record against Big Ten competition. Quarterback Sonny Jurgenson was injured prior to the Homecoming contest with Pitt, however, and when this misfortune was combined with the strenuous schedule, the Blue Devils were forced into a mid-season slump. Nevertheless, Duke climaxed the season by defeating South Carolina, Wake Forest, and their rugged half-century rivals from Chapel Hill.



The largest stadium in the Atlantic Coast Conference is Duke's massive horse-shoe-shaped arena with its seating capacity of over 50,000.

N. C. STATE

An unidentified Blue Devil makes a diving ankle high tackle on N. C. State's fleet halfback Nick Christy as a would be Wolfpack blocker arrives too late to provide the necessary interference.

Dale Boyd, Coach Bill Murray's new quarterback discovery, cuts through the Wolfpack defense on a long punt return as Duke blockers Hal McElhaney, Bob Benson, and one other Blue Devil pave the way.

Coach Bill Murray and his star - studded Blue Devils opened their 1955 season at Riddick Stadium in Raleigh against the Wolfpack of N. C. State. After two hours of play, which was hampered throughout by a light rain, the Blue Devils emerged on the long end of a 33-7 score.

Both squads were plagued by fumbles, but Duke managed to convert the Pack miscues into scoring opportunities. Sonny Jurgenson scored first for Duke, plunging over from one yard out. Shortly afterwards, Bob Pascal raced for the Blue Devil's second touchdown, with Bryant Aldridge following a few plays later for the third score of the initial period. Then late in the second quarter Sophomore Eddie Rushton intercepted a State pass and raced 39 yards for the fourth T.D. Duke's final tally came early in the second half.

Playing at Knoxville, Tennessee for their second contest of the season, Duke's Blue Devils beat back a stubborn Tennessee team 21-0. After fighting off two threats by the Volunteers early in the game, Duke marched 55 yards for their first touchdown; the drive was capped off by a two yard plunge by Bob Pascal.

Late in the third quarter, halfback Bunny Blaney broke the game wide open with a brilliant 83 yard dash from the line of scrimmage. It was the second longest run in the history of Duke football. The final Blue Devil touchdown came in the last period on a short scamp by Pascal. Jim Nelson added all three extra points. Although quarterback Sonny Jurgenson didn't score, he was the game's outstanding performer as his threatening and accurate passing was primarily responsible for two of the Blue Devil Touchdowns.

Duke draws first blood mid-way through the first period as halfback Bob Pascal takes a handoff from quarterback Sonny Jurgenson and bulldozes his way through the Tennessee defense for a touchdown.

Aided by near perfect blocking, Duke's fleet halfback Bunny Blaney takes a pitchout from quarterback Sonny Jurgenson and scampers 83 yards for the Blue Devil's second score of the afternoon.

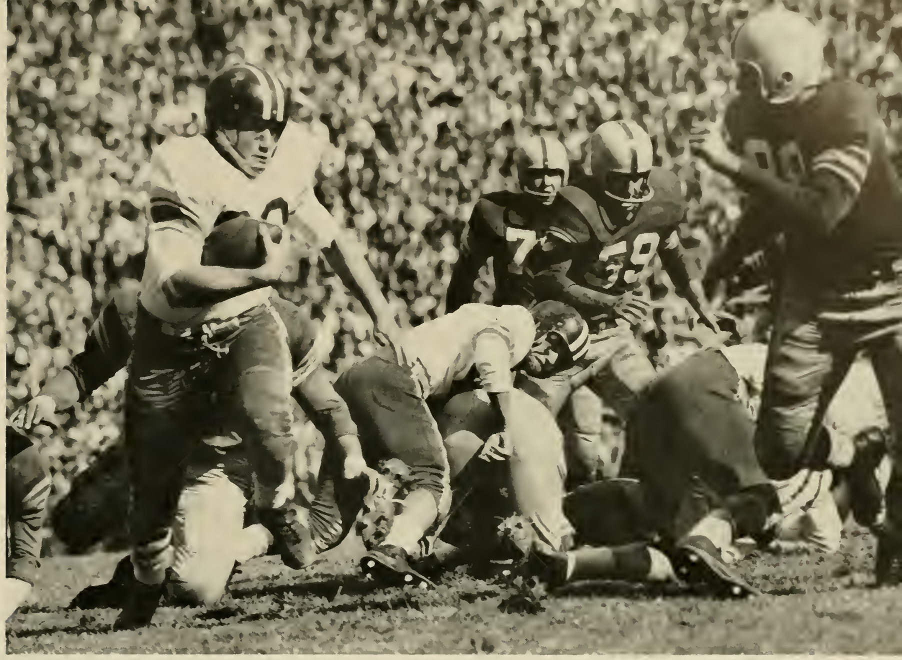
In their first home game of the season, Coach Bill Murray's Blue Devils overwhelmed a supposedly tough William and Mary eleven by a score of 47-7. The Big Blue scored in the first quarter on a pass from signal-caller Sonny Jurgenson to Bunny Blaney and then turned right around in the second period and pushed over three more touchdowns. At that time Coach Murray pulled his entire first team and cleared the bench.

By capitalizing on many repeated William and Mary mistakes, the Blue Devils were able to score three more times in the last half. The Indians' only touchdown came mid-way through the fourth quarter following a beautiful 57 yard pass-play.

The manager arranges the helmets while the grounds-crew removes the tarpaulin just prior to the home game with the William and Mary Indians.

DUKE 47 WILLIAM AND MARY 7

Quarterback Bob Murray, operating Duke's famous split T Option play, bangs his way into the end zone for the Blue Devil's seventh touchdown.



Bob Pascal takes a pitchout from Sonny Jurgenson and swings around end for seven yards before being stopped by a host of Buckeye defenders.

DUKE 20 OHIO STATE 14

Frank Hainer, Duke's Blue Devil, did an excellent job in keeping the fans amused throughout the entire game with the Buckeyes of Ohio State.

Early in the season, Duke met Rose Bowl champions Ohio State University before a throng of 82,000 fans at Columbus, Ohio. In the first quarter, the Buckeyes scored two quick touchdowns to gain a 14 point advantage. Late in the second period, a pass from Bob Pascal to Bunny Blaney clicked for a Duke T.D., and the halftime score read 14-7. In the third quarter the Blue Devils knotted the count when Pascal blasted over from one yard out. After State had run four plays, Duke marched 76 yards to go ahead 20-14, remaining undefeated by Big Ten Competition.

A Panther defender reaches high over the outstretched arms of receiver Bob Pascal to deflect a long pass from Sonny Jurgenson.

A crowd of 31,000 fans watched fifth ranked Duke lose at homecoming to an underdog Pitt team 26-7. Beset by fumbles and an alert Panther defense, Duke seemed unable to move against the big Pitt line. Pitt scored first on a 37 yard pass play to go ahead 6-0, but Duke retaliated by scoring on a brilliant 75 yard pass from Sonny Jurgenson to Bunny Blaney. Jim Nelson added the extra point, and at halftime Duke led 7-6. In the second half Pitt managed in seven quick plays to make the score 13-7. Duke penetrated to the Pitt 11, but gave up the ball on downs. Later Duke fumbled on its own 33, and the Panthers scored in just six plays to lead 20-7. Duke was able to control the ball for only three plays before punting to its own 45 where Pitt took over and marched for its final touchdown to humble Duke 26-7.

DUKE 7 PITTSBURGH 26

Duke's once-beaten Blue Devils fell prey to Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets 27-0 before a fired-up Tech homecoming crowd in Atlanta. Playing without the services of Sonny Jurgenson, the Dukes couldn't get going against the hard-charging Tech line. On the third play from scrimmage, Dale Boyd fumbled on the Duke 31. Five plays later Tech scored, kicked, and led 7-0. A few downs later Duke was forced to punt, and Tech scored again in three plays. Wade Mitchell's conversion gave Tech a 14-0 margin which remained until the half. The Dukes managed to move to the Tech 30 in the third quarter, but Red Menger intercepted a Blue Devil pass and ran unopposed for Tech's third touchdown. Later Tech scored again and the game ended with Duke having bowed for the second straight week to a ranking power.

Jimmy Thompson, Georgia Tech's leading ground gainer for the 1955 season, is encircled by a whole host of Blue Devil Tacklers.

DUKE 0 GEORGIA TECH 27

DUKE 7 NAVY 7

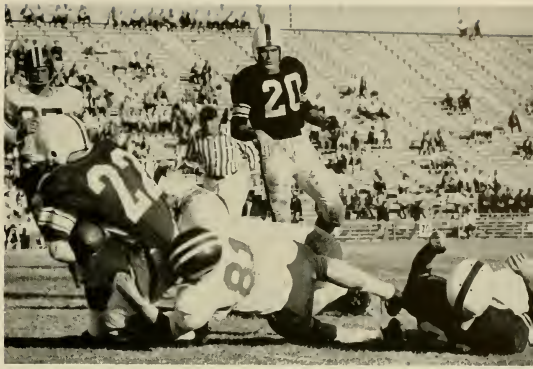
Navy halfback Ed Eodum takes a pitchout from George Welsh, then cuts back into the line only to be met by Duke's right end Bill Thompson (81).

Middie Coach, Eddie Erdelatz, huddles with two of his starters to discuss the strategy planned for the Baltimore, Md., contest with Duke's Blue Devils.

The running Blue Devils and the passing Middies battled to a 7-7 tie before a crowd of 32,000 fans at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium. Neither team was able to score in the first half. In the second half, Navy scored on an 84 yard drive. Duke then took the ball and started to move. But the drive fell short and Bob Pascal punted. Welsh bobbled the ball, and Bunny Blaney recovered on the Navy 35. Eight plays later, Aldridge scored and Jim Nelson's kick tied the score. A few plays later, Duke drove to the Middy ten; Nelson barely missed an angled field goal attempt, and the game ended in a tie.

At full strength for the first time in weeks, the Duke eleven tackled the Gamecocks of South Carolina in Columbia on November 12. The Blue Devils, in command of the game from the start, smashed to a 41-7 victory to spoil Carolina's annual Homecoming celebrations.

Using its aerial game sparingly, Duke relied on a running attack in the routing of its ACC opponent. Pascal circled right end for six yards to produce the initial touchdown; Aldrich made the second, while a Jurgenson to Sorrell pass provided the third. In the second half, Rushton scored once and McElhaney twice.



A Blue Devil end, sophomore Bill Thompson, cuts by the would be South Carolina blocker and slams the Gamecock ball carrier sharply to the ground for a long loss.

The Duke forward wall opens a hole in the South Carolina defense making it possible for fullback Bryant Aldridge to go for Duke's second score.

DUKE 41 SOUTH CAROLINA 7

Despite the efforts of blocker Bill Barnes, Deacon quarterback Kenny Carpenter is trapped by a host of Duke defenders led by Bob Pascal.

DUKE 14 WAKE FOREST 7

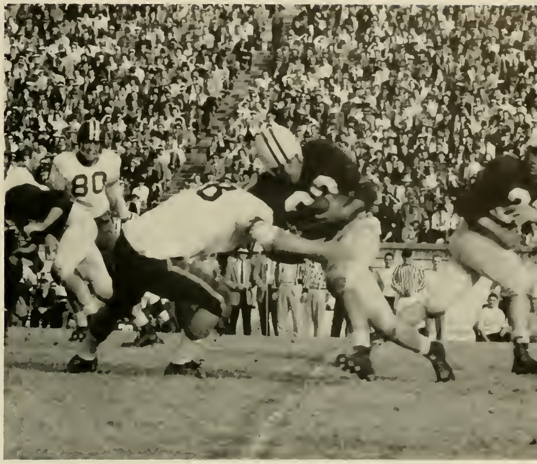
Wake Forest's Demon Deacons, continuing in their policy of being rough on big time competition, gave the Blue Devils one of their hardest afternoons of the season before finally bowing 14-7 to Duke's superior depth. Halfback Bob Pascal led the Methodist's cause by scoring two touchdowns and reeling off several long runs. The Blue Devils' noted passing attack was so hampered by the rain and wet field that they were forced to resort entirely to their potent running game.

DUKE 6 NORTH CAROLINA 0

In the first Atlantic Coast Conference contest ever to be televised to a national audience, Duke and U.N.C. fought one of the fiercest battles of their traditional series before the Blue Devils were finally able to eke out a 6-0 victory over the invaders from Chapel Hill. Last year Bill Murray's chargers gave the Tarheels a sound drubbing, and this year the Carolinians were out for revenge.

The first half was purely a defensive battle which found the Blue Devils halted several times within the Carolina 20 yard line. Finally, halfback Oliver Rudy was allowed to skirt the end on a 30 yard run for the first and only score of the day, and the fifth straight victory over U.N.C.



Tarheel halfback Ed Sutton takes a handoff from quarterback Jim Reed, but Duke's Ronnie Falls cuts through the UNC line and downs him before he can get started.

Hal Bradley, Duke's head basketball coach, discusses strategy for the Carolina game with Captain Joe Belmont and other team members.

Although the Blue Devils had, potentially, their best team since the days of the fabulous Dick Groat, Duke basketball suffered a mediocre season despite a record of 19-7. With an entire starting team returning and a host of promising sophomores back from last year's freshman team, which had been the best in the history of the university, there were many observers who thought that Duke might finish with the conference championship and perhaps even sweep through the N.C.A.A.

But there were to be many headaches to plague head coach Hal Bradley and his assistant, Tony Drago, before the year was over. First came the news that captain Don Tobin, the leading defensive player on the squad, would not return to school because of scholastic difficulties; then, starting guard Jack Kalbfus was forced to drop out of school after the end of the first semester for the same reason. Added to that were Ronnie Mayer's injury in the Dixie Classic and some bad breaks which led to a number of needless defeats.

But it wasn't all as dark as it may sound, for there were many bright spots in the picture. The victories over N. C. State and North Carolina; the surprisingly good performances turned in by sophomores Bobby Joe Harris, Jim Newcome, Paul Schmidt, Bucky Allen, and Tony Buhowsky; and, above all, the sparkling play of the Blue Devils' senior threesome, Ronnie Mayer, Joe Belmont, and Junior Morgan, kept Duke in the center of national attention.

Jack Kalbfus comes down between two high-flying South Carolina players after grabbing the rebound.

The season's opener was played in the Indoor Stadium on the night of December 2, with the Tigers of Clemson providing the opposition. With Ronnie Mayer starting out in his accustomed roll of high scorer, Duke romped to an easy 97-63 win. It was the first time in three years that the Devils had not broken the century mark in their opener, but the score was close enough to satisfy all.

South Carolina was the next victim of the Devils, the Gamecocks falling before an 82-67 count. For the second straight game Mayer hit for 24, with Bob Lakata the number two scorer, hitting for 20. Warming up to their task, the Blue Dukes trounced Georgia Tech in the final game before Christmas vacation, 87-66; Mayer broke the 30 mark for the first time this season, and little Joe Belmont had his first big night, scoring 23.

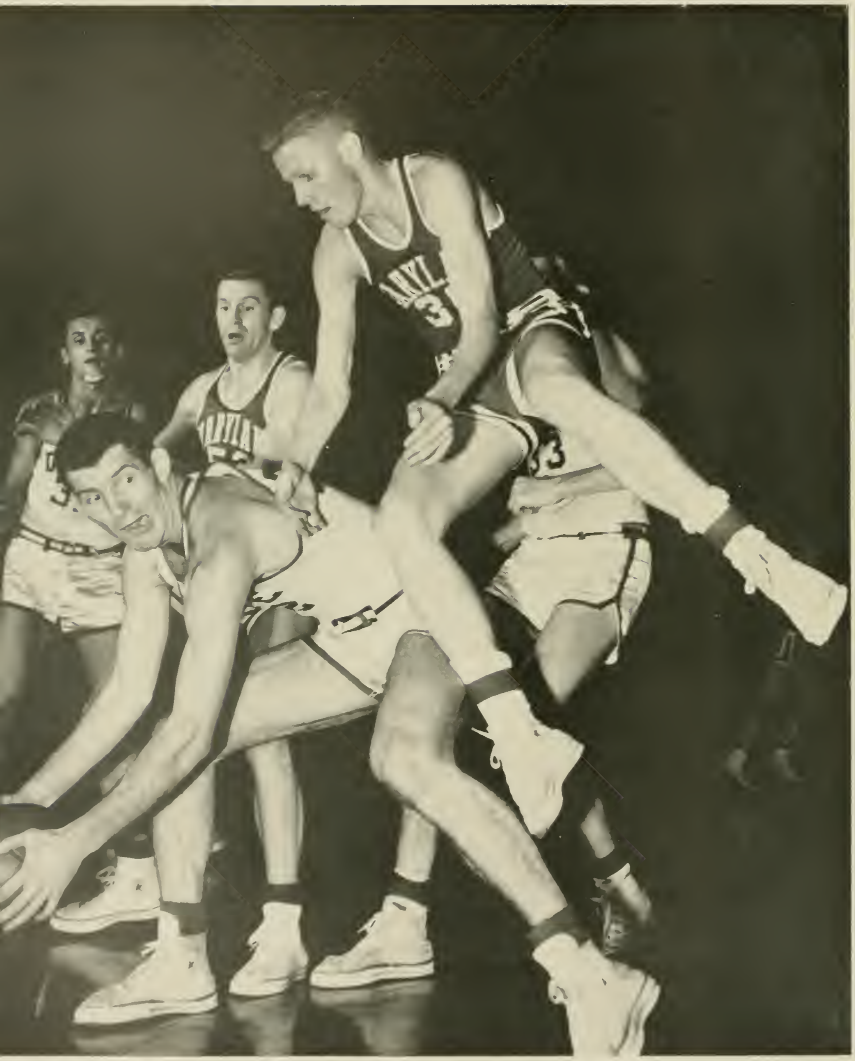
Continuing on their merry way, Duke made a three game trip into Pennsylvania and came away with victories over Penn, 98-80, Villanova, 86-76, and Pitt, 92-54. In the three contests, Belmont was high scorer with 80 points, while Mayer had 67 and Junior Morgan, 41. Belmont's 37 against Penn was the best individual effort of the northern tour.

Once again it was Dixie Classic time, and Duke opened the annual affair with a 71-54 win over Wyoming, as Mayer again hit for 24. The Blue Devils drew North Carolina in the second round, and after leading by as much as 17 points, fell apart when Ronnie Mayer slammed into the floor and opened a couple of huge cuts in his chin; the shock must have thrown Duke off stride, as they dropped the game, 74-64. It was their first loss of the season and ended a seven game winning streak. In the final game of the Classic, the Blue Dukes stopped Wake Forest behind Joe Belmont's 23 points, 64-52 to take consolation honors.



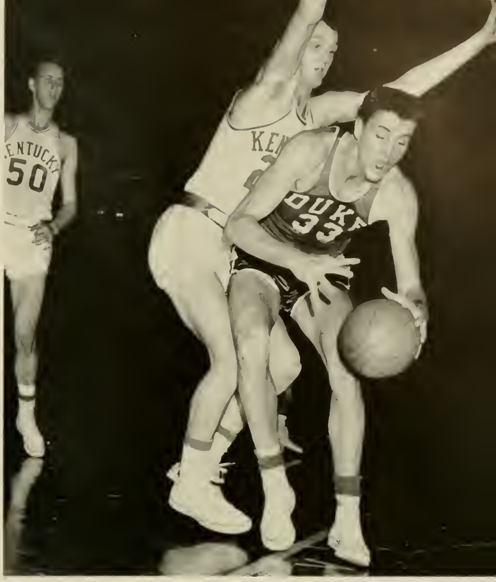
Duke's Bob Lakata brings down an offensive rebound but is fouled by Maryland's guard, Bob O'Brien, before he can pass off to Ronnie Mayer.

In their first game of the new year, the Devils fell prey to Wake Forest, a team that Duke had beaten less than a week before. Jack Kalbfus led the scorers in the 84-71 loss with 19 points. Then, with Joe Belmont putting on one of his best ball-handling exhibitions and pouring 25 points through the hoop, Duke upset N. C. State 68-58. Following that upset, Duke won the remaining three games on its schedule before the end of first semester, beating South Carolina, 63-52, Clemson, 109-80, and Maryland, 76-62.

At this point the Blue Devils had a 12-2 record and seemed to be ready to make their move to the front, but then came the news that Kalbfus would be lost for the second semester. With Jack out of the lineup, Duke dropped its first game after the two week exam break, 81-76 to the Kentucky Wildcats. Trailing by as much as 20 points in the last half, the Blue Devils, sparked by Belmont and Lakata, put on a rally, but didn't have quite enough steam to overtake Adolf Rupp's Wildcats. On their return to the Indoor Stadium, Duke, led by sophomore Bobby Joe Harris' last half shooting spree, downed North Carolina.

The Devils pushed their record up to 15-3 by beating Maryland, 82-70, and Virginia, 74-59, before dropping two in a row, the first to Wake Forest in an 80-77 thriller, and the second to N. C. State, 90-81, in another game which saw Duke rally from a large last half deficit, only to fall just short of victory. Moving into the last two weeks of the regular season, Duke whipped Navy, 93-70, and Virginia, 92-58, before bowing to North Carolina, 73-65. Only two Blue Devils managed to score more than four points in the loss to the Tarheels, Mayer getting 32 and Belmont 19.

Closing out their regularly scheduled games, Duke trounced a supposedly strong George Washington team, 90-71, as Ronnie Mayer cut the cords for 25 points, while G. W.'s All-American Joe Holup was held to 13.



Junior Morgan makes a brilliant save for the Blue Devils in their game at Lexington with Adolf Rupp's Wildcats of the University of Kentucky.

Jim Newcome pulls the ball down off the boards, but is fouled by Carolina's Jerry Vayda before he can make the pass back to Junior Morgan.

With the regular season over, Bradley sent his charges into the A.C.C. Tournament on a seemingly even footing with the rest of the Big Four. Mayer and Belmont led the squad to an easy first victory over Maryland, 94-69, scoring 27 and 26 respectively.

Playing against N. C. State, the team that went on to win the championship, the Blue Devils had the worst off-night of the season, hitting for only 26.8% from the floor, and bowing by a 91-79 tally. Finishing up their collegiate careers, Mayer scored 22, Belmont 8, and Morgan 7; and so the curtain dropped on another year of basketball at Duke.

Seniors Mayer, Belmont, and Morgan were one-two-three in scoring for the year; Ronnie had 553 points and a 22.1 average; Joe had 440 and a 16.9 average, and Junior scored 293 points for a 11.3 mark. The Duke Blue Devils as a whole had the third highest average in their history, 80.6 per game.

BASE

A no-hitter, a slugging third baseman who hit .429, and a young hurler who notched a 1.50 earned run average paced the Duke baseball team through a season of rebuilding which found them posting a 10-11 record.

On the surface this doesn't appear to be impressive, but when one considers that six starters and three pitchers were sophomores, one may regard the 1955 season as being more successful than the record might indicate.

The no-hitter was the high point of the season. It came in the final round of the Dixie Baseball Classic, as the Blue Devils were playing Rollins College for third place in the tournament. Junior Tom Blackburn was making his first start of the season, and he made it a memorable one. Striking out eight, he never gave the Tars anything close to a base hit. The only Rollins hitters to get on did so through walks, one in the third and two in the fifth; to make the game even more of a triumph, the hitters seemed to be catching the spirit of Blackburn's masterpiece as they routed their opponents 10-0. This defeat was the first in thirteen previous decisions for Art Brophy, the ace pitcher of Rollins College.

BALL

Many things pass through the minds of the onlooking players while they view the action in an important conference game.

The potential of next year's team can be inferred by considering the performance of a number of sophomores on the 1955 nine. Sophomore third baseman Andy Cockrell was the batting star of the season; his batting average of .429 was enough to capture the number one spot in the A.C.C. Sophomore Harleigh Fatzinger headed Duke's mound corps, posting a 5-1 won-lost record and holding the opposition to a 1.50 earned run average. Only two seniors were able to hold down starting jobs, shortstop Dick "Mogo" Brewer and left fielder Dick Kreutzer. Senior Karl Dutschmann started the season in right field, but sophomore Buddy Bass, on the strength of his hard hitting, displaced Dutschmann before the year was more than halfway over. Two returning starters, second baseman W. D. Fesperman and first sacker Dave Kirkpatrick, faced stiff competition for their positions from George Hoover and George Atkinson; Sonny Jurgenson also saw considerable action at second. Bernie Blaney, a light hitter but a flash on the base paths and in center field, rounded out the starting outfield.

Inconsistency in pitching and lack of speed in fielding were major handicaps for the Blue Devils. However, the number of experienced sophomores and several stars from the freshman squad should be able to make the 1956 team the best that Coach Ace Parker has had in his three years of coaching the diamond sport.

Evidently upset by the action on the playing field, both coach and players anxiously strain to get a better view of the course of the game.

"The one-man gang" Joel Shankle and muscleman Durham Lawshe led a fine Duke track team to a 5-1 record and a third place finish in the 1955 A.C.C. meet. Shankle, the greatest track star ever to compete at Duke, was invincible in his favorite events, the high and low hurdles and the broad jump. His efforts in each of these were among the best turned in all over the country during the year. Shankle's top performance came in the rugged Penn Relays, where he copped two first place positions. However, Coach Bob Chambers faced a tremendous rebuilding job for 1956, with a group of 15 lettermen returning, plus a highly regarded crop of sophomores from the unbeaten freshman team. Expected to spark the 1956 squad is Dave Sime, who has given every indication that he will follow in the footsteps of the immortal Joel Shankle.

LACROSSE

Although the Duke lacrosse team experienced one of its leanest seasons in years, there were several highlights in the season which kept the final outcome from looking too dismal after all. The Blue Devils, under the direction of Coach W. S. (Jack) Persons, managed to look well on their home grounds, losing only to the University of Maryland who were the Atlantic Coast Conference and National Champions.

The Joe College Weekend contest with Washington and Lee was one of the most exciting games of the season and will be long remembered by those who made the trip out to Freshman Field—especially those who were witnessing a lacrosse game for the first time.

Coach W. S. "Jack" Persons addresses the bench just prior to the opening whistle of the game between the Blue Devils and the Washington and Lee Generals.

Duke's all-American lacrosse player, Everett Anderson (88), moves into the pack to defend against a University of Maryland ball carrier.

The Blue Devils were plagued by injuries and lack of competent depth, and thus fell easy prey to the overwhelming manpower of the northern clubs like Army and Navy. Dick Saunders and Everett Anderson were the mainstays of the Duke team, but Saunders was injured in the Virginia game and was lost to the team for much of the season. Nevertheless, Saunders was selected to the third team all-American and was the clubs leading scorer with 20 points. Anderson was the defensive stalwart for the team and again received honorable mention for all-American.

There are only three schools in the Atlantic Coast Conference which field lacrosse teams, Duke, Maryland, and Virginia, and the Blue Devils came in behind the Terrapins to cop runner-up honors; in overall play the Duke stickmen won three while dropping six. This record was nevertheless good enough to enable the Devils to gain a three-way tie for first place in the Dixie League Title.

Action is intense on the lacrosse field as is exemplified here when midfielder Dick Saunders steals the ball from a George Washington player.

Soccer coach Jim Bly looks on approvingly from the scorer's table as his booters outplay and outscore highly favored Pittsburgh in the season's opener.

Under the direction of Coach Jim Bly, Duke's 1955 soccer team posted one of the finest records in several years. In the past, soccer games have failed to draw much of a crowd, but this year more soccer fans than ever before supported the Blue Devils as they notched four victories against four defeats. The biggest win of the season came in a home contest against the University of Pittsburgh—a team which subsidizes its players and one that was favored to win by several points. In conference play, the Devils won two while dropping four; this record put them fourth behind Maryland, North Carolina, and Virginia.

Hampered by lack of depth and inexperienced runners, the Blue Devil cross country team underwent a rough and rocky fall campaign. The Dukemen, under Coach Al Buchler for the first time, came along fast toward the end of the season, but were nevertheless able to beat only Wake Forest in six regular season contests. The best individual effort of the season was produced by Hanner, who broke the course record in finishing first at the Davidson course. Had not two of the Devil runners been forced to drop out because of injuries, the team might well have finished higher up in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings.

TENNIS

A once minor sport at Duke, tennis has fast become one of the most popular attractions on the spring program. Attendance at last year's eight home matches boomed as the Blue Devils enjoyed one of their finest seasons in Duke tennis history. Coach George Lott's squad lost only twice in 15 starts. The loss to powerful Miami snapped the Blue Devils' nine-match winning streak, while the 5-4 set back at the hands of the Tarheels forced the Dukemen to settle for second place in the conference standing for the second straight spring.

Buzz Hettleman won 14 out of 15 singles matches, closely followed by Bob Green, who had a 13-2 won-lost mark. Dave Schimmel, the team captain, won all 15 of his matches and received the Rathburn Trophy, awarded annually to the most valuable Duke tennis player.

Coach Ellis (Dumpy) Hagler looks on approvingly as his number one golfer, Dennis Bolster, tees off for a practice round prior to one of the season's games.

A trio of close defeats spelled the difference between a good season and an average one for coach "Dumpy" Hagler and his Blue Devil golf team. Losses to Wake Forest, A.C.C. champions, 11½-15½; Navy, 3-4; and North Carolina, 12½-14½, held Duke to a 5-4-1 record in dual competition. However, considering that there were only three lettermen on the squad, there can be no dissatisfaction with the results of 1955.

Individually, Bob Hackett and co-captains Harald Hansen-Pruss and Denny Bolster turned in sparkling performances. Hackett captured first place in the Azalea Tournament, and Bolster notched a fifth place in the Southern Intercollegiate, seventh in the A.C.C., and advanced to the quarter-finals of the N.C.A.A. before being set back by the tournament champion. Injured through the loss of graduating seniors of last year, the team is counting heavily upon returning lettermen, Terry Thomas, Clint Toms, and Bob Ruffini.

WRESTLING

Led by the Atlantic Coast Conference's most outstanding wrestler, Hal McElhaney, Duke's 1955-56 team posted one of its best regular season records in several years. Under the direction of Coach Carmen Falcone, the Blue Devils won four while dropping only two. Looking ever-powerful on their home mats, the Devils were overwhelmed by the Universities of Maryland and Virginia in away contests. The conference title, which was decided by the tournament at College Park and won by the Terrapins, saw the Blue Devils come in third behind the Cavaliers of Virginia.

Captain Sam McMillan led the Blue Devils to a most successful season.

SWIMMING

A sophomore-studded Duke swimming team, gaining experience with every meet, ended its season with four straight victories to finish with the highly-respectable record of six wins and four losses. Under the tutelage of Coach W. S. "Jack" Persons, the Blue Devils won three out of five in conference action to place third in the A.C.C. standings. In non-conference meets the Dukes submerged Georgia Tech, The Citadel, and W and L.

Captain Sam McMillan, the only senior on the squad, starred in the sprints, as did sophs Steve Young and Ken Whitney. Ed Hardin, Bob DePuy, and Boyd Falls, all sophomores, were the diving trio, a pair of sophomores, Emmett Pace and Gary Verhey sparkled with many firsts in the backstroke. Three more sophomores, Jim Pickens, Bob Weaver, and Rick Morgan, stood out in the breast stroke.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Senior Finley Maxson from Pittsburgh, Pa. was 1955-1956 intramural manager.

Because the number of skilled athletes who make up the Varsity squads is small in comparison to the overall number of sports enthusiasts on the Duke campus, the extensive Intramural program plays an important role in the college lives of the average student. This year the program was headed by Finley Maxson, and it is through his fine work that the intramural activities have been such a success. The teams are composed of men from fraternities, freshman dorms, and independent sections; and while the skill may fall far short of that exemplified by the Varsity teams, the desire to win and the supporting spirit is just as intense.

This year's handball championship went to the Beta's Warren Hagen.

During the short period between basketball and softball season, volleyball dominates intramural playing.

S.A.E. Bill Richardson copped this year's cross country championship.

While the skill may fall short of that of the Varsity, the desire for victory is nevertheless just as intense as is exemplified here in an intramural basketball game between Pi Kappa Alpha and the Law School.

Woman's Athletic Association, composed of officers elected by the campus, dormitory representatives, and chairmen of each sport, encouraged, led, and assisted Duke coeds in athletics. After sponsoring a freshman picnic, the board planned tournaments for dorm, sorority, and individual competition. Trophies were awarded to the winners, and outstanding athletes received gold keys. This year W.A.A. invited prominent people in the sports world to the campus to give demonstrations of their skills. Another successful project of the organization was Friday night open houses at the East Campus gym for coeds and their dates.

The Nereidian Club selects each fall its members from talented swimmers from East Campus and Hanes House. Throughout the year the girls worked on synchronized swimming, practicing each week for the water ballet presented in the Spring. The thirty-five swimmers in this year's group, headed by President Arlene Schmidt, were aided in their ballet program by girls who worked with costumes, lighting, and props to make the pageant, "Out of This World," a spectacle of color and intricate figures. In addition to the two April performances in the Woman's College Gymnasium, Nereidian traveled to East Carolina College in May to re-stage their colorful pageant.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

The Woman's Athletic Association sponsored again this year a full program of intramurals for East Campus coeds, nurses, and any graduate students who wished to participate. For dormitory and sorority teams, there were tournaments in basketball, softball and volleyball, with trophies going to the winning teams. Additional trophies were presented to the dormitory and sorority which had totaled the largest number of points by placing first, second or third in the different areas of competition and to the dorms which had retained possession of a trophy for three consecutive years.

Besides these team sports, W.A.A. sponsored for individual competitors tournaments in ping-pong, badminton, tennis, bowling, and assisted the Pegasus Club in the spring horseshow.

Badminton is one of East's favorite sports, and here Ellie Kent with an overhead high stroke scores a point in an intramural match.

The individual tournaments were divided between freshmen and upperclassmen in order to give freshmen an opportunity to become better acquainted with college athletics and still place in the intramurals. Winners of these individual tournaments were honored by having their names engraved on plaques containing a record of previous years' winners, and they received points towards W.A.A. certificates and gold letters which are annually awarded for outstanding participation in women's athletics.

Supplementing this competition among groups and individuals on the campus, W.A.A. initiated this year a Basketball Club and continued to sponsor the Tennis and Hockey Clubs. These groups were composed of the top athletes in the sport and enabled Duke women to match skills with women athletes from neighboring colleges.

After being crowned Duke Homecoming Queen at the Pep Rally on Friday evening, Lois Plummer reigned over the game with Pittsburgh and the Homecoming Dance on Saturday.

The hot October days plus a quick flip of the calendar hinted that the biggest and most spectacular football weekend of the year was only hours away. With everybody talking about Homecoming, men on West were doing something about Pitt; invading alumni were amazed by displays depicting the disaster of the Panthers before the Devil's paralyzing pitchfork. Heralded by a pirate flag waving gaily over the quad, the big morning came. Later post-game gloom was swept aside as the dance climaxed the gala weekend.

The rain which threatened disaster to good times went almost unnoticed as Count Basie and his eighteen lively musicians invaded the campus with jazz and "bop" of a kind which could induce even the sun to come out. Beginning with a concert on Friday afternoon and traveling through a formal dance the same night, the Count wound up the weekend with the festive informal on Saturday. An extra attraction, a crazy-hat contest, added party atmosphere with the "craziest"—Lew Marvin—winning the grand prize. Extended hours for coeds . . . entertaining that "best girl" from home . . . quick bites between events at the Blue Light . . . tired feet . . . . myriads of parties . . . and all too soon Duke's biggest fall weekend came to a close.

The dance music of Count Basie's band was made richer by the mellow sounds from these saxaphone players.

JOE COLLEGE

In the Joe College parade, Hunter Lew Marvin is carried by the natives of Pi Kappa Alpha on a safari along Main Street.

Here comes the parade: Durham citizens and Duke students line Main Street to watch as "Joe College Goes on a Holiday", the theme of the year's most colorful weekend—Joe College.

Crepe paper and colored napkins fluttered from floats designed and built by Duke Greeks. Thrills—and a few spills from borrowed trailers and trucks—accompanied the parade from the tobacco warehouse, where the floats were built, to West Campus, where they were disassembled.

The parade began an actual "holiday" for Joe College and Betty Coed. An exchange dinner on East Campus with fried chicken and "all the trimmings" gave study-tired students energy to begin a weekend of dancing to the music of Les Brown and his "Band of Renown." Although the band was making its initial performance at Joe College, Les Brown actually was returning to his Alma Mater; where he began his career.

Adding to the festivities was the Hoof 'n' Horn production, Laughing With You. Nat Greenblatt, author, and Larry Taishoff, director, with a host of laughable characters set a holiday spirit very much in keeping with the weekend theme.

JOE COLLEGE WEEKEND

As Les Brown, a Duke graduate, conducts his "Band of Renown," the crowd gathers to watch and listen.

Nat's story concerned a famous author, Jake Farraway, who became a clown to escape the distractions of reality and who, by his mysterious absence, threw an entire publishing company into a state of shock. The merry musical skipped in setting from an executive office on Park Avenue to a jungle safari in Brazil, winding up in the old Palace Theatre, the home of vaudeville, where Farrington, finally caught in his elusive escapade as a clown, forced the serious executives into his act. Their clowning and gaiety brought the curtain down on a scene perfectly in keeping with the spirit of the weekend. Clowns, executives or students—everybody likes a holiday.

EDITOR'S ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Although one name appears on the half-title page as editing the 1956 CHANTICLEER, it would be a gross misrepresentation to exclude the names of all those whose combined efforts produced this edition of the Duke annual.

Being blessed with an efficient, co-operative staff is one of the biggest necessities in publishing a yearbook—and in this I was most fortunate. Countless hours were spent by Tim Mull, Coed Editor, patiently typing hundreds of letters; Marilyn Hildreth writing captions; Mary Lou Potter revamping copy; Pete Severson struggling with a proportion rule; Eddie Heath handing out photographic supplies; Peggy Wood rescheduling a picture for the fifth time; Jennie Holt perplexed over honoraries; Julie Bay and Judy Greene managing the office; Buck Talman trying to educate me in the field of sports; Marilyn Lyon conversing with deans and professors; Lynn Dally co-ordinating sororities; Tom Ivey dashing from fraternity section to fraternity section; Clif Cleaveland and Tom Calcott, diligently organizing organizations; Bernie Goldstein and Ann Gunn typing classes; Ed Hammond and Jean Munro climbing three flights of stairs to answer our endless questions concerning engineers and nurses; and all the photographers who worked hard to take all the pictures in this book, disregarding the lack of cameras, film, or flashbulbs. However, if one name were to stand out above all the rest it would be that of Betty "Mac" McCurdy. Without her steady guiding hand, her reminders of things I had to do, her efficiency at getting accomplished on time what had to be done, her knack for making the office as tidy during deadlines as at the beginning of the year, and in general, her wonderful spirit and moral support, I could not have edited this book with such ease.

Although the majority of pictures were made by staff photographers, there were numerous ones derived from other sources. To Time, Inc., and Bill Vandivert for their kindness in placing at my disposal most of the colored plates printed in the introductory section and hundreds of other negatives of Duke scenes; to University Photographer Thad Sparks who has been more than generous in patiently providing me with any photographic needs; to Mike Pierry for his aid in taking colored shots and beauty court informals; to Miss Maxine Westphal for her work photographing the house counselors; to Nathan Skipper for the sorority pledge classes; to Whitley and Scott for the fraternity group pictures; to Leonard Kamsler for his sports coverage; and to The Columbus Dispatch, Garnett and Black, Knoxville News Sentinel, Lucky Bag, Lexington Herald-Leader Co., I am forever grateful.

In addition, there were many others whose assistance proved invaluable: Mr. Joseph Hardison and the Edwards & Broughton Co.; Mr. Walter Dargan, Miss Doris Leeper and the Southern Photo Process Engraving Co.; Mr. Robert T. Wilson and the Kingscraft Cover Co.; Mr. James T. Colonna and the Colonna Studios Co.; Mr. G. C. Henricksen, Dean Herbert J. Herring, and Mr. William Griffith.

No list of acknowledgements could be complete without mention of my business manager, Bill Tudor; of Mary Lou Babcock and Sissie Whitted; and most of all my parents whose loving guidance enabled me to edit the 1956 CHANTICLEER.

JINI CRANDALL

This book was printed in the year nineteen hundred and fifty-six, in Raleigh, North Carolina, by the Edwards & Broughton Co. using Janson monotype, on Lustrogloss paper, manufactured by the S. D. Warren Paper Co. at Cumberland, Maine. All photo-engravings were made by the Southern Photo Process Engraving Co. at Atlanta, Georgia, and it is bound in covers made by Kingsport Press at Kingsport, Tennessee.

THE FIDELITY BANK
THE FIDELITY BANK

The FIDELITY BANK'S Central Office is conveniently located at Main and Corcoran streets, in downtown Durham. Other offices serve busy neighborhood communities at Driver and Angier, Ninth and Perry, Vickers and Jackson, and Roxboro Road and Maynard Avenue. The FIDELITY is Durham's oldest bank, and has served Duke University and its students for many years. You are always welcome at The FIDELITY.
